FENTAI INCIDENT
SETTLED

JAPANESE IN CONTROL

Piping, Yesterday.

Considerable tension prevails here as a result of a collision between Chinese and Japanese troops at Fengtai, 16 miles south of Piping, last evening, following an alleged insult to a Japanese officer on horseback by Chinese sentries. Although there was considerable firing there were no casualties.

While the parties are still confronting each other negotiations between high Chinese and Japanese officials are proceeding for a peaceful settlement of the incident.

SETTLEMENT REACHED

Piping, later: The Fengtai incident has been settled by the Chinese evacuating their barracks and leaving Fengtai. The Japanese are now occupying the Chinese barracks and wholly control the town.—Reuter.

FRENCH LABOUR CONDITIONS

Serious Petition To
The Premier

"SUNDAY HERALD" SPECIAL

Paris, Yesterday.

Three hundred engineers and works foremen of the Paris metal industry have handed M. Leon Blum, the Premier, a petition declaring that all the authority in the works in question has disappeared, and the power has passed into the hands of irresponsible mischief-makers, whose intrigues must inevitably lead to the collapse of the Paris metal-working industries.

This pernicious agitation, says the petition, is in no way connected with the prevailing working conditions in the works in question.—Trans-Ocean Service.

NEW DANUBE BRIDGE

Joint Undertaking
Decided Upon

"SUNDAY HERALD" SPECIAL

Belgrade, Yesterday.

Under the energetic impulse of the initiative of the Yugoslav Prime Minister, M. Stoyadinovitch, events in the Balkans continue to move forwards with unwonted rapidity.

After two days' negotiations between the Yugoslav and Rumanian Traffic Ministers, attended by M. Stoyadinovitch and several prominent military experts, a decision was reached to begin building the trans-Danube railway bridge at Klisovo, proposed by Rumania. This project will require the construction of about 65 miles of new railway line by Yugoslavia towards the cost of which Rumania is said to have undertaken to contribute 150,000,000 lei.

An official communiqué states that the technical and financial details will be settled at further deliberations of the competent experts.—Trans-Ocean Service.

INSURGENTS PREFER TO DIE FIGHTING

FIERCE COUNTER-ATTACK OPENED

Toledo, Yesterday. The fighting continued until nightfall last evening among the ruins of Alcazar, but the Government troops failed to overcome the resistance of the surviving insurgents, many of whom are still manning the tumbled heaps of masonry. It is estimated that 100 insurgents were killed, while the Government lost six killed and 12 wounded. The Government troops were preparing to resume the offensive at dawn to-day.

After the explosion the survivors launched a fierce counter-attack, harrassing the invaders with grenades and trench mortars. The Government troops were subsequently ordered from the ruins, after which the Government artillery pounded the occupied quarters with a rain of shells, while the Government forces erected strong barricades from which to start a fresh attack.

The infantry offensive was resumed later in the day, when the Government forces appeared to make a considerable advance.—Reuter.

TURKISH MINORITY IN NORTH SYRIA

Self-Government Sought

"SUNDAY HERALD" SPECIAL

Istanbul, Yesterday.

The Turkish Foreign Minister, Dr. Tewlik Rushdi Aras, is about to leave for Geneva and Paris to negotiate with the French Government about the grant of self-government to the Turkish minority in the region of Alexandretta, in Northern Syria. The Turkish press is conducting a campaign in favour of this proposed change.—Trans-Ocean Service.

MARIA WENDT CASE

Alleged Dope-Smuggler
Awaits Trial

Los Angeles, Yesterday. Maria Wendt is seriously ill with influenza, and her trial for alleged dope-smuggling has been postponed.—Reuter.

Maria Wendt is the pretty Eurasian girl now being held by the Californian police on charges of smuggling drugs into the United States. She was believed to be hiding in Shanghai, and a certain Dr. Stey, dismissed from the directorship of the Paulin Hospital there last week, is supposed to have facilitated her escape. Dr. Stey is being sought by the French police in Shanghai on a warrant.

BRITISH CIVIL AVIATION

Remarkable Progress
Shown

London, Yesterday.

A report on the progress of civil aviation, just published, shows marked expansion in the use of air travel and transport. The mileage of British civil aircraft on the Continental, Empire and Inland services more than doubled last year. Passengers increased by 60 per cent, and mails by 300 per cent.—British Wireless Service.

WEATHER FORECAST

The anticyclone now covers North China, Manchuria and Japan, and the trough of relatively low pressure extends from the China Sea to the Carolines. The forecast for to-day, as issued by the Royal Observatory last evening was: North-east winds, moderate, fine generally.

Toledo: This morning Alcazar had not yet been completely captured, and the remnants of the insurgent defenders were holding out within the shattered citadel. The Government troops are bringing up light artillery preparatory to a final bombardment.

The fact that the second mine laid by the Government besiegers failed to explode accounts for the lack of complete success in the initial mining.

The explosion of the first mine left only the tower and the wall of the fortress remaining standing, but the cellars were still intact. The insurgents from there launched a violent move against the Government forces.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

AMBASSADORS RECALLED

French Diplomatic Changes

"SUNDAY HERALD" SPECIAL

Berne, Yesterday.

The French Ambassador here, Comte Clauzel, having reached the age-limit, is about to retire. The French Government, according to the "Basler Nachrichten," has already obtained agreement for his successor, namely, the present Ambassador at Moscow, M. Alphand, former French diplomatic representative in Dublin.

In authoritative quarters it is also stated that the Ambassador in Rome, the Comte de Chambrun, is to be succeeded by Comte St. Quentin, who recently conducted certain negotiations with Italy on behalf of the French Foreign Office. M. Alphand in Moscow is to be succeeded by the sub-director of the Political Department of the Quai d'Orsay, M. Coulandre.—Trans-Ocean Service.

Arabs Demand Concessions

Jerusalem, Yesterday. Since the Pan-Palestine Congress was forbidden by the British mandate authorities the resentment among the population, both urban and rural, has grown very much sharper.

The Arab committee of management meets to-day to consider the future course of action with regard to the general strike. Among the delegates almost all those representing the local Government bodies state emphatically that it is im-

DIPLOMATIC RECOGNITION OF MANCHUKUO MAY RESULT

Berlin, Yesterday.

The possibility that Germany and Japan will seek to lead the world in an "anti-Bolshevik front" is being discussed in diplomatic circles here in connection with the return of Dr. von Dirksen, the German Ambassador to Tokyo, who is leaving for Japan on October 13. It is believed that Dr. von Dirksen was one of the diplomats considered for the Ambassadorship in London, but his work in Japan is estimated to be too valuable to enable him permanently to leave Tokyo.

Dr. von Dirksen attended the Nuremberg Party Congress, where he met Count Schulenburg, Ambassador at Moscow, and also Herr von Ribbentrop, Ambassador to the Court of St. James, and the Ambassadors to France and Italy, as well as hearing Herr Hitler's scathing anti-Bolshevik attacks. It is suggested here that Dr. von Dirksen returns to Tokyo with orders to further the common interests of Germany and Japan with regard to the Russian question.

It is not believed that there will be any question of a formal alliance or a military pact, but the hope would rather be that a general front against Bolshevism might be built up in the world, led by Germany and Japan but supported by Britain, France and Italy. If Japan shares the German view of the Russian problem it is suggested that Germany might find it convenient to give formal diplomatic recognition to Manchukuo.

ATTACK ON OVIEDO REvolt THREATENED IN MADRID

"SUNDAY HERALD" SPECIAL

Paris, Yesterday. The leader of the Red troops in Asturias, General Condello Penno, is threatening to take Oviedo—where an insurgent group, cut off from the main body, is still holding out—by the same tactics which were applied at Toledo. According to reports reaching here from Spain, an ultimatum will be delivered to the Nationalists at Oviedo to-day, warning them that women and children must leave the town within 24 hours.

The capture of Oviedo is considered absolutely necessary by the commander of the Red forces for reasons of prestige, in view of the recent defeats of the Government forces by the insurgents. Following the same method which proved successful in the capture of Alcazar, Toledo, Red miners are already beginning to dig galleries for the blowing up of Oviedo. The total number of the Government forces now concentrated around Oviedo is estimated at roughly 11,000 men.

The Nationalists, broadcasting from the station at Burgos, assert that the steady advance of the Nationalists on Madrid is beginning to cause panic in the capital. Although the Madrid Government is keeping the inhabitants in the dark about the real situation on the various fronts and although the Madrid newspapers were not permitted to publish any reports about the recent defeats of the Government forces, the inhabitants of the capital are gradually beginning to realize the seriousness of the situation.

On several occasions Red Militiamen have held mass meetings in the centre of the town. Following such a meeting on Thursday the Militiamen held a demonstration of protest, during which they marched past the Government buildings, assuming a threatening attitude. The Militiamen, moreover, sent a delegation to the Minister of Interior, which declared openly in favour of ending the strike, but the Government should reveal the truth about the situation on the various fronts. The Madrid Government is greatly worried by the demonstrations of the Militiamen.

The newspaper "Falastin," which declared openly in favour of the Arab leaders to take the initiative for ending the strike until some concessions are made from the British side. The newspaper "Falastin," which declared openly in favour of ending the strike, has been burnt in the open streets to the number of hundreds of copies. Fighting between British troops and fanatic Arabs and acts of sabotage against the railways and the Iraq pipe-line continue daily.—Trans-Ocean Service.

MUSSOLINI'S CONDITIONS

FOR RE-ENTRY INTO LEAGUE

Geneva, Yesterday.

A public meeting of the League Council was held to-day at 5 p.m. At yesterday's meeting of the Council, M. Avon, Secretary-General, reported on his recent visit to Rome and his interview with Signor Mussolini and the Italian Foreign Minister, Count Ciano.

He stated that Signor Mussolini agreed to Italy's re-entry into the League on condition that no Abyssinian delegates be accepted at the League meetings.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM

London: The train, with a special saloon in which the King travelled north last night, reached Ballater station at 8.30 this morning. A Guard of Honour was mounted by the 1st Battalion of the Gordon Highlanders. A large crowd had gathered and cheered His Majesty and the Duke of York when they drove off to Balmoral.

When the train halted at Aberdeen the crowd which had come in the hope of catching sight of the King cheered enthusiastically when he and his brother descended to the platform in Highland dress and acknowledged their greetings.—British Wireless Service.

The South Wales Miners Federation had issued notices instructing all lodges to make arrangements for a cessation of work, though later the notices were withdrawn and a meeting between the owners and workers arranged.

The Bedwas Company's attitude was explained in a statement announcing its intention of standing by the Industrial Union. It said that the company suffered from continuous strikes when the colliery was worked by members of the Miners' Federation, but there had not been a single stoppage since the dispute of 1933, when the company first commenced to work with the Industrial Union.

LISTERINE TOOTH PASTEA Gentleman Always Pays

By TED MARSON

WITH one quick flash of his practiced eyes, Mr. Fancy Dan McConnel of Brooklyn and Chicago surveyed the swank lobby of the Sheridan Arms, then stepped into the telephone booth.

"Give me Mr. Widgery . . . Mr.
Elmer Thrush Widgery . . . registered from Montreal," he ordered.

"I'll connelku with the desk," announced the flat voice of the bored operator.

Although he could see nothing but the decorative bronze fittings inside the telephone booth, Fancy Dan could feel the desk clerk gesture disdain as that supercilious individual announced: "No Wid-gery registered."

Neither that flat announcement
nor the annoyed voice of the desk
clerk retarded Fancy Dan.

As a matter of fact, Fancy Dan was not at all surprised to find no Widgery registered. He was more certain than the desk clerk that no Widgery was at the Sheridan Arms.

"Mr. Widgery," he insisted into the mouth piece, "is a terrible peasant. But I'm sure he's here as a guest of Mrs. Dexter." He paused. "Oh," he murmured reflectively. "Mrs. Dexter would know." Then louder: "Could I speak to her, please?"

He listened patiently to the intermittent buzzes and clicks.
"Three-O-two does not answer."

Fancy Dan nodded his happy thanks to the instrument, strode briskly from the booth and through the drug shop into the street.

Ryan, big and hard-faced, lounged at the wheel of the long sedan

by the curb.

Fancy Dan stopped to the door, waited while the big guy leaped out to open it, and sank into the empty rear seat with a dignity which belied his Brooklyn waterfront upbringing.

"Around the block," he ordered.

Moving slowly into the stream of traffic, the big chauffeur cocked his head half around to the back seat and began to talk to his dignified young passenger in terms not quite fitting.

"Out with it, for the love of Mike," he barked. "Whatta ya got?"

The tough guy getting nervous already, thought Fancy Dan.
But his thoughts didn't show. He was calm, cold.

"Cut the jitlers, Ryan," he said.
"I got the room number—straight."

He began asking quick, precise questions.

"The old dame come out of the hotel?"

"Right ahead of you, blooming like all her five million rocks."

"How 'bout the maid?"

"Right behind her, and Jeez Marla, if she ain't a looker I never saw one."

Fancy Dan brushed this aside.
"I wonder where that maid went."

"She plodded into a cab and went straight on east," Ryan answered, pulling the sedan up to the curb again only a short distance from the spot where it had been parked before.

"It'd been better if we could have got her out with that phonny call. Then we'd know she wasn't gonna stalk back in there."

"At ease," Ryan, barked. "Do ya think a swell number like that's gonna spend her two hours off just sitting around looking at picture books? She'll time herself to come barging back in the apartment about three minutes ahead of the madam herself."

If Ryan indicated that Fancy
Dan was losing his nerve worrying about the untimely return of
Mrs. Dexter's maid, he was wrong.
Fancy Dan already was sweeping the hotel entrance with his quick glances. At the same time he was turning his reversible topcoat so the gray side would be out.

"Okay," he breathed as Ryan opened the door. "Keep this car right here . . . better start the engine and keep it running. I might be in a hurry to get some place when I come out that door."

He stepped into the street, a dignified gentleman with a walk of a man about 50.

As this same gray gentleman crossed the lobby the house dick hurriedly looked up from his conversation with a lobby squatter.
The desk clerk glanced idly past him.

Fancy Dan grinned inwardly.
No connection in that clerk's mind between the middle-aged, grayish gentleman and the youngish voice that had just inquired for Elmer Thrush Widgery.

He walked slowly, paused to examine the magazines at the cigar stand until both elevators had left the main floor. Inconspicuously he moved away and just as inconspicuously he slipped up the broad stairway. He had learned through painful training that there was no percentage in passing up little details: elevator boys could be too wide-awake and they could talk too much in these places.

Walking hesitantly down the corridor, Fancy Dan to all intents was slowed by the difficulty of fumbling for the key to his room —until the woman up the hall turned the corner. Then, quickly, he darted to the door which his eye had marked during his awkward fumbling for the imaginary keya.

Entrance proved surprisingly easy, almost suspiciously easy.
His master duplicate turned noiselessly.

He stepped in, closed the door.
A big living room beckoned beyond the little hallway where he stood, listening.

In spite of the background of his youth and his profession, Fancy Dan McConnel was never one to pass up good and expensivest tastes. It was apparent that Mrs.
Dexter had class. The furnishings in the suite originally had been in the slightly bizarre motif so dear to residential hotel decorators.
But now, the atmosphere was chastened, toned down by heavy drapes and soft shadows.

Fancy Dan moved forward, carefully scanning the walls for a clue.
Just where would it most likely be hidden? Probably behind that curtain.

Stan Hall
1936.

He stepped softly to the draped mantle.

Breaking the silence almost inoffensively came the muffled click of the door knob behind him.

Fancy Dan froze in his tracks.
The hall door opened and closed. A spasm of prickles swept up his back. Ordinarily they could have brought jittery knees in their wake. But Fancy Dan's practiced self-control remained firm.

He did not turn to face the intruder as quiet footsteps sounded in the hall. Sudden movements usually led to fatal consequences.

His back appeared to be that of a totally unconcerned, perhaps deaf, owner of the suite.

"Hey, you," remarked a girl's voice, breaking the tension. "Are you the man from Mowry's?"

He turned cautiously.

The girl with the fur coat over a maid's uniform was decidedly good-looking. As a matter of fact, she was just about the prettiest girl Fancy Dan had ever seen.
Just looking at her youthful eyes began to do something to him.

With even more self-control than he had just exercised when unknown footsteps were approaching behind him, Fancy Dan now regained the quick, instinctive poise which had pulled him out of holes
before.

He knew Mowry's well—the Mowry Safety Vault Corporation.
He had developed his sense of touch
at Mowry's.

"I'm one of the men from Mowry's if that's what you mean,"
she blurted recklessly, and quickly covered up. "Say, you're pretty careless, leaving the door unlocked like that."

Her very bad, very inviting lips parted in a smile. It was not a mechanical smile. It was very personal. It enhanced the allure of her trim figure as she dropped to the divan watching him.

"That's why I came back," she explained lightly. "I started out to a show and then happened to think I'd forgotten to turn the snap."

"Why the hell doesn't she go on her show then?" thought Fancy Dan to himself, trying to concentrate on what he should do. But,
at the same time, he lost another valuable 15 seconds considering how well that girl fitted into the beauties of this apartment . . .

how they were there alone . . .

"We didn't expect you until 5 o'clock," she broke in. "But I suppose, since you're here, you might as well open it."

He made no comment. He was deciding the man from Mowry's apparently was supposed to open something, and he was reflecting how his weakness for dames had almost landed him in the clink a couple of times.

"You know," the maid continued, tapping a cigarette on an elegantly carved table, "the madam wants the emeralds for that Omnipotent dinner to-night."

"I read the papers," Fancy Dan answered, looking at her with raised eyebrows.

"Those reporters find out things before they happen," she went on in response to his quizzical stare.

"They just brought the stones over from the bank yesterday."

He released her suddenly. Her eyes were closed. Her lips were parted.

"I've never been kidnapped so completely in my life," she breathed.

"You probably spent your life in a convent," he answered, and quickly resumed his work.

He was himself again. No more kidding. No more fooling.

Now he had to get rid of her. If she stayed, he'd have to turn over the rocks to her tamely. Or else he'd have to tap her on the head.

But—he didn't want to think in that direction.

He finally got the first click he wanted from the whirling dial.

He stopped. Reversed. Caught the second nicely. Reversed again.

Paused, struck with inspiration.

"Listen," he said. "You're a swell gal; but this is ticklish business and I get jittery even when ordinary people watch me work."

COUTOURIERS ENGAGED WITH MOTIFS AFFORDED BY CORONATION DRESS

LONDON.—The coming coronation is already having its effect on the dressmaking world. Coutouriers are visiting the London Museum to study the ceremonial clothes worn by peeresses at King George's coronation in 1911 and the Earl Marshal's dress regulations are eagerly awaited.

Should court dress be permitted instead of coronation robes the dressmakers would have an opportunity of using the magnificent modern fabrics unknown in 1911. Gem-studded fabrics may be used and other materials chosen to set off the priceless jewels that will be worn.

In any case, the dress regulations will probably differ from those for King George's coronation. King Edward will have mediaeval precedent to guide him if he decides to modify the coronation robes. It is only since the time of Charles II, for instance, that barons and baronesses have worn coronets, while they wore robes for the first time at James II's coronation. Any modifications in coronation dress would apply to peers' robes and those of the royal family, as well as to those worn by peeresses. The two ceremonial peeresses' garments whose fate is in the balance are the robe and kirtle. The robe consists of a cape with train extending on the ground to a length decided by the wearer's rank. The kirtle is a velvet dress with a white or cream petticoat of lace or silk fabric, forming a front panel.

Meanwhile, Peter Russell has evolved a jewel code for fabrics and colours. The perfect material for wear with diamonds, he says, will be white satin, with jewels actually set into it—black onyx outlined with diamante will be inserted here and there as if

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY SECRETS

(By Max Factor)

Clothes And Make-Up

In a recent interview, one of Hollywood's foremost dress designers offered a set of rules for being smartly dressed on a limited budget. Breeding and good taste evidently make up the language of all personal appearance, for it is really remarkable to notice how effectively these same ten rules apply to the purchase and use of beauty aids. Let's review them and see:

1. Avoid all fripperies. Make-up, too, has its gadgets and gewgaws. Fortunately, however, they pass like comets. The amount of good to be derived from mechanical means of supporting double chin or rolling off fat has yet to be proven.
2. Invest your clothes money on quality fabrics. Here is shades for evening wear. But a dressing table crowded with a multitude of rejuvenating creams and other so-called "miracle workers" which claim all sorts of mysterious ingredients is just an expensive way of fooling yourself.

3. Don't strive solely to be different. Classic clothes are not only safe but are distinctive and always in perfect taste. Bizarre styles like thin, sky-high eyebrows are mere attempts to be sensational; but genuine charm is never sensational. There's real beauty hidden in your features; bring it out, don't distort it.
4. Avoid cheap jewellery and jewelled trimmings, particularly clips. If you must an eloquent make-up moral. For instance, no price is really too great to pay for such an important thing as purity protection. You have only one face; guard it well.

3. Don't make yourself a slave to the latest fashion edicts. Good make-up knows no fads or fashions. Matching your cosmetics with the colour of your dress or fingernails is contrary to every principle of Nature. You were given certain facial colourings which seldom change; enhance them with harmonious, natural shades of make-up and you will always be sure of looking your best.

4. Dress to suit yourself, not your neighbour. Likewise, don't use a certain shade of lipstick or powder just because a friend uses it. What is good for one face is not always the best for another.

5. Shun "nofsy" clothes; loud dress is the arch enemy of smartness. Too-colourful make-up fairly shrieks poor taste. Just notice how much more pleasing it is to see features which have been accentuated with care and delicacy.

6. Don't try to be the last word in chic. Better wear a good model of yesterday, than a cheap one of to-morrow. Again quality vs. fad—the choice is obvious.

7. Don't worry about the price tag; it has no relation to smartness. Although you cannot logically expect to get more than you pay for, exorbitant prices do not necessarily indicate corresponding measure of quality.

8. Don't strive for too large a wardrobe. Correct changes, not frequent ones, is the important thing. Don't try to complicate your make-up needs. Most smartly-groomed women use two different sets of powder, rouge and lipstick—the more vivid

VOGUE

Is The Vogue In Hong Kong . . .

What I mean to say VOGUE is the smartest dress-shop in town to-day. It is tucked away in a corner on the first floor of the Gloucester Building, but its frocks and dresses are everywhere . . . you see them on the smartest women in town. All those well-dressers to whom you look up with so much admiration . . . you can bet your last dollar . . . all dress the VOGUE way! And that means: smartly, all the time smartly, and the most economically. Smart women are smart more than one way: they don't waste their money, but always get the most for it. There is no need to elaborate on VOGUE'S price policy. Go and look at their price-tags . . . and all will be clear to you. Incidentally, don't forget to look at the dresses. And if you don't tell me that their styles, quality of materials and workmanship surpasses everything in town, even in the much higher priced shops — I will eat my hat; And it is a big picture hat with a rose garden and two birds in the middle.

MCCARTHY WINS 50 YARDS FOUR AQUATIC TITLES FOR LAWRENCE MARQUES BEATS WONG IN THRILLING FINISH

A large gathering of spectators witnessed the concluding events in the Colony Swimming Championships held under the auspices of the Victoria Recreation Club last night in their pool, and although the swimming on the whole was very close, no new records were established. The championships this year have been conspicuous for the fact that only one record was bettered, the 100 Yards back-stroke mark, which was lowered by a fifth of a second by Lau Po-hel, of the Hong Kong University.

Cpl. R. McCarthy, of the East Lancashire Regiment, last night became the first Serviceman to win a Colony title — the 50 Yards free-style, beating H. L. Ozorio, of the University, by touch, while Lionel Roza-Pereira won his first Colony Diving Championship title, and E. M. Marques recorded his first success in the 100 Yards breast-stroke championship, which he won by a touch from Wong Iu-man, of the Mak Ngah Association.

Wilfred Lawrence, the Colony swimming champion, gained his fourth championship title when he won the Quarter-Mile free-style by nearly half a minute from Pte. F. Taylor, of the East Lancashire Regiment. Lawrence thus won every event he entered for with the exception of the 100 Yards back-stroke championship, in which he was narrowly beaten by Lau Po-hel.

Best Race

The best race last night was undoubtedly the 100 Yards breast-stroke championship, in which five swimmers participated.

Before the commencement of the race, Marques, the subsequent winner, and Wong Iu-man, of the Mak Ngah Association, were joint favourites, although after the first two lengths those that were back-stroking Marques were almost on the point of regretting it.

Both Marques and Wong Iu-man were drawn in lanes No. 1 and 2 and as a result were able to watch each other all the way. Both swam neck-and-neck for the first

OMAR HEADS SENIOR SKIPS' TABLE

THE Yacht Club finished up their 1936 Lawn Bowls League season yesterday with a tie at the Civil Service C.C., following a 71-43 defeat earlier in the season.

Sixes were recorded by J. Cavanagh (up 16 shots), F. Cullen (up 7) and R. Wallace, who tied with W. V. Field, who scored on the last five ends!

By virtue of his win yesterday U. M. Omar now leads the senior skips' table, being 11 shots better than Bob Duncan, who also has 24 points. Hollands, with 23 points, lost a grand opportunity of securing the honours when he bowed to A. W. Grimmitt by six shots.

NAZARIN AND GOSANO PROMINENT Play Themselves Into Interport XI

PEARCE CAPTAINS ONE SIDE

In direct contrast to the first Interport Cricket Trial last Saturday, yesterday's match at the H.K.C.C. was brimful of interest and helped the Selectors in no small manner.

Two players made certain of their selection—K. Nazarin, who played a very polished innings when things were not going well with his side, and E. L. Gosano, who, after a shaky start, proceeded to use the long handle in care-free style.

Neve's Chances

H. B. Neve also showed up to advantage, and if he should come off on the K.C.C. wicket today he may quite easily secure inclusion. He treated Pereira with scant respect after he had settled down, getting the fast bowler away to the leg boundary three times in masterly fashion. He is also not afraid to hit a half volley, but he would be advised to get his left leg nearer the delivery, as at the present he is not getting sufficient power behind his attempted big hits.

Eric Mitchell, former Interport captain, again had deplorable luck, being beaten first ball for the second week in succession.

R. Lee bowled really well in his opening spell, the ball that beat Pearce being one "out of the bag." His bowling, on his own wicket, will be keenly watched to-day.

Clegg-Hill A "Possible"

Colledge again impressed as an opening bat and Clegg-Hill made one or two nice shots through the gully—he is another who is on the verge of selection, and much will depend on his form at the K.C.C. to-day.

It was significant that Alec Pearce was given the captaincy of the better equipped eleven, and it is to be hoped that our suggestion a fortnight ago will bear fruit. He handled his bowling well from the point of view of giving everyone a fair chance to show his capabilities, while his setting of the field was sound.

In the field Kilbee, Pearce, Gosano, Nazarin and Hayward shone.

Nazarin's Fine Knock

Nazarin, who played a chanceless innings for 35, scored out of 67, hit seven boundaries in a stay of 54 minutes. His best shot was a perfectly timed square cut, although he brought off one or two nice strokes on the leg side. "Tinker" Lee, who hit up 44 out of 72 in quick time had eight boundaries. Neve batted 49 minutes for his 23, scored out of 69.

Garthwaite batted in characteristic style for 57 minutes for his 47 out of 82, hitting nine boundaries, while Gosano had a six and eight boundaries in his 59, scored out of 140 in 69 minutes.

As the result of the two trials it looks very much as if the following side will be sent up to Shanghai: T. A. Pearce (captain), W. H. Colledge, K. Nazarin, C. C. Garthwaite, E. L. Gosano, E. F. Fincher, A. H. Madar, A. R. Minu, F. D. Pereira, G. Clegg-Hill and N. A. E. Mackay, with R. Lee, H. B. Neve or A. T. Lee as the twelfth man.

It will be interesting to see whether Nazarin will be given an opportunity of opening the innings in to-day's match at the K.C.C. Mackay has not yet revealed his true form and a change in the batting order may have to be made as a result.

MCLEAN IN FINAL TO MEET FISCHER OVER 36 HOLES

Garden City, Long Island, Yesterday.—Jack McLean, the British Walker Cup player, will meet W. Fischer, the American Walker Cup player, in the Final Round of the American Amateur Golf Championship.

McLean led G. Voigt (U.S.) by six up after the first 18 holes of their 36 holes (match play) semi-final tie yesterday, returning a card of 77 against 83 by the American.

The match was played in a howling gale and the conditions favoured the Scot, who was in excellent form.

Johnny Goodman, U.S. Open champion in 1933, and W. Fischer were all square at the end of their morning round, the scores being 77 and 78 respectively.

As a result of play in the afternoon round, Jack McLean entered the Final Round, beating Voigt by 8 and 7. McLean was six holes up on his opponent at the 27th, when the scores read 51-53 in the Scotsman's favour.

DRASTIC WIN FOR REES

Whitcombe Loses Fine Opportunity

$1,250 GOLF TOURNEY FINAL

OXHEY, YESTERDAY.

Dai Rees, the young Welsh amateur professional at Surbiton, scored a dramatic victory in the Final of the News Of The World $1,250 professional (match-play) golf championship here yesterday, beating Ernest Whitcombe by one up after Whitcombe had led by five holes at the end of the morning round.

Rees consistently outdrove his more experienced opponent, but Whitcombe was the master in the other departments of the game.

The scores for the first round were Whitcombe 69, Rees 76.

Whitcombe led by two holes at the 27th, but the match was all square at the 29th, owing to Whitcombe's putting lapses. Rees assumed the leadership for the first time at the 31st hole, and returned 68 against 78 by Whitcombe for the second 18 holes, the par score for the course being 72.—Reuter.

SLUM CLEARING IN HONG KONG LEADING PUBLIC MEN INTERVIEWED SIR SHOU-SON CHOW GIVES VIEWS IN NO UNCERTAIN MANNER

In last Sunday's issue of the Sunday Herald, we published the views of some of the Colony's leading residents on the question of slum clearing in Hong Kong and this week we take the opportunity of giving the views of other leading public men. In the cases of the two professional men, an architect and a solicitor, we have, for obvious reasons, to withhold their names, but they, like the rest of the people we have interviewed on the subject, are very emphatic about the need for slum clearing in the Colony and that conditions as they are at the present are a definite stigma on the good name of Hong Kong.

The Hon. Sir Shou-son Chow, one of the most prominent Chinese public men in Hong Kong, voiced his views in no uncertain terms but, with his mature experience of how things are done here, Sir Shou-son Chow said that he feared that the process of slum-clearing in Hong Kong would be a very arduous one.

Sir Shou-son Chow said that he was in entire agreement with us when we say that it is imperative that the Colony be cleared of its slums, though it was an acknowledged fact that there are slums in every country, but owing to the superfluous population of the Colony, and the fact that the majority of them belong to the poorer classes, you cannot expect them to live in the most sanitary conditions, for their very severe poverty makes it impossible for them to do so.

"As you know some of them earn barely $4 a month and with this sum they have to support their families, which number from anything up to about five or six."

"Owing to the proximity of the Colony to Canton, the more prosperous we get in the Colony, the more the people from that city are inclined to rush down to Hong Kong in their effort to secure employment. Because of this constant change in the nature of the slum population, I do not see how we can introduce a system of allowing so many people to so many square feet of open space.

Big Obstacle

"It is a notorious fact that the poor people must live near their work, and because so much of their work is to be obtained in quarters where rent is cheap (for the shops and factories), it would be futile to try even to remove the people to a place where living conditions are more sanitary.

"Owing to all these difficulties, I fear we shall have to feel our way very slowly and proceed only by degrees. That the work has to be done, there is not the slightest doubt, but who is going to do it? Is the Government going to assume all responsibility, or are the landlords going to do it? On either side there is no money. I would like to see it done; I would like to see a clean Hong Kong, but I am afraid that it will be a slow process and take a long, long time."

The Hon. Mr. T. N. Chau: "It is a very big scheme and will take a long time to carry out, but I have no doubt the Housing Commission who are looking into the question will bring solution to the problem. Personally, I am all for slum clearing, but, as I said before, it will mean much work and take a long time."

A Prominent Local Architect: "If the Government are going to start slum-clearing, let them then introduce more stringent regulations, and one of these would be to limit the 'lives' of the houses in the Colony."

A Member of the Legal Profession: "Only one thing can be done

Mr. G. R. Sayer, Director of Education, with Mrs. C. G. Alabaster, wife of the Attorney-General, at the opening of the Central British School last Monday. ("Herald" photo).

If we are to rid the Colony of the slums. The overcrowding law must be enforced to the letter. Make it an offence to allow even more than one over the limited number of persons living in a flat."

The Hon. Dr. S. W. Tso (Senior Chinese Member of the Legislative Council): "I would like to see everybody living in a castle, but who is going to provide the money? Still, your idea is a very good one and I wish it every success."

Mr. O. Eager (Secretary of the Hong Kong Land Investment and Agency Company Ltd): "As we have not got any slums, we have not given the matter much thought. Through a mortgage, some rather 'slummy' houses came into our possession and the first thing we did was to clear the people out, and the houses are not now tenanted."

Mr. Lau King Tsing (Director of the Tung Wah Hospital): "The problem is an age-old one and needs the immediate attention of the authorities but, with the effects of the economic depression still on us, I am afraid that it is not a matter that can be attended to at once. It is, nevertheless, very important that the authorities should deal with it at the first opportunity."

The Rev. Fr. G. Byrne, S. J.: "I have read your articles, and personally I should be very happy to see everybody living in clean quarters. There are slums in every part of the world but efforts are being made everywhere to rid the places of this handicap. We should all see what we can do about the matter."

Government Appointments

The following Government appointments etc. are notified in the Government Gazette:

The Hon. Mr. William Henry Bell to be temporarily an Unofficial Member of the Executive Council in the place of the Hon. Sir Henry Edward Pollock, Kt., K.C., LL.D., who is temporarily absent from the Colony, with effect from June 8;

CHEUNG CHAU FIRE

Twenty Houses And Shops Gutted

BUT NO LIVES LOST

A fire broke out at about one o'clock yesterday morning in a piece-goods shop in the Tai Sun Kai, the main street of the fishing village of Cheung Chau. As the telephone cable to Hong Kong and the mainland was broken during the last typhoon and is not expected to be repaired for about two months, the local fire brigade was informed of the occurrence by wireless.

No. 1 fireboat was immediately rushed to the scene and began pumping sea-water into the flames through several hoses from alongside the ferry wharf. The new No. 1 Police Patrol launch also arrived on the scene in a very short time and rendered valuable assistance, but about 20 Chinese houses and shops were completely gutted, though no lives were lost.

By 7.30 a.m. when the first ferry left for Hong Kong, the fire had been extinguished and only the smouldering walls were left to bear mute testimony to the destruction. The damage is estimated at several thousand dollars.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

COUNCIL SESSION OPENED

FACTORS GOVERNING RETURN OF ITALY

London, Yesterday.

The 93rd session of the Council of the League of Nations opened last evening at Geneva under the presidency of Senor Vicuna (Chile). The Council, which met in private, adopted its agenda and decided, in accordance with the request of the Governments of Iran and Iraq, to remove from it the question relating to the frontier dispute between those two countries.

It decided to forward to the Assembly the communications received from 18 Governments regarding the application of the principles of the Covenant.

A Geneva message says that the Secretary-General, M. Joseph Avenol, there made a statement on the circumstances in which he recently visited Italy, and informed the Council of his conversations in Rome with the Italian Foreign Minister and the head of the Government.

He informed the Council that Signor Mussolini made it a condition of Italy's participation in the work of the present Assembly that no Abyssinian delegation should be present, and reported that he had told Signor Mussolini that this was a question to be decided by the Credentials Committee of the Assembly. The Council held no discussion on this point.

Economic Affairs

The 44th session of the League of Nations Economic Committee, under the Chairmanship of Sir Frederick Leith-Ross (United Kingdom) drafted a report for the Council mainly concerning the present phase of international economic relations. It states that signs of an improvement in the general economic situation are more numerous, although unequally divided among the different countries. Progress has been made rather within a number of countries without a corresponding advance in foreign trade.

The report refers to the effect of currency readjustment, the restriction on foreign exchange and the limitation of the free movement of goods. Suggestions are made as to the modification in economic policy necessary to overcome the present depression.

Other parts of the report deal with the most-favoured-nation clause, the present tendencies of clearing agreements, and exchange control.

The League Financial Committee is now sitting under the Chairmanship of M. Dayras (France) to consider the financial position of Hungary, Austria and Bulgaria, with the help of the accredited representatives of the Government of these countries, and will make a report thereon to the Council.

Peace Broadcasts

A conference of the Governments under the presidency of M. Arnold Racine, summoned by the League, is now meeting to conclude a Convention on the use of broadcasting in the cause of peace. The question was first studied by the International Institute of Intellectual Co-operation on the suggestion of the Assembly in 1931. A draft Convention prepared and submitted to the Governments for remarks was in general favourably received. Thirty-six States are attending the meeting and three others sent observers.

At the opening the President stated: "The draft before the conference aims at the consolidation of the rights of each State regarding political broadcasts. The draft is not of a technical nature, does not affect monopoly rights nor the right to a particular wavelength, nor the limitations of such a right." —British Wireless Service.

During the week ended September 12 Osaka reported four cases of smallpox and Calcutta 16 of cholera.

Associated with the work on the success of their public spirited endeavours.

Yours sincerely,

LEAGUE SESSION OPENS

RETURN OF ITALY SIMPLIFIED

ETHIOPIA DOES NOT FULFIL COVENANT CONDITIONS

Geneva, Yesterday. The League Council opened its 93rd session yesterday with formal proceedings. It is understood that the Credentials Committee will find that the Ethiopian Government does not fulfil the conditions laid down in the Covenant, and there is little doubt that the majority of the Assembly will endorse its recommendations, thus clearing the path for the re-admission of Italy.

Meanwhile the Spanish delegate, the Foreign Minister, Senor del Vayo, protested vigorously to M. Delbos, the French Foreign Minister, regarding Portugal's alleged continued violations of neutrality in the civil war. M. Delbos agreed that the Portuguese attitude was inadmissible and intolerable. — Reuter.

ROUTINE BUSINESS

Geneva: The 93rd meeting of the League of Nations Council was opened yesterday afternoon under the chairmanship of the Chilean delegate, Senor Rivas Vicuna, the Italian delegation being absent. The Abyssinian representatives were present and it is supposed that they will be present at the first meetings. The Committee on Legibility, which usually meets in the first days of a session, will decide whether Abyssinia is eligible to be present later on.

The business taken up at yesterday's meeting was the acknowledgement of the memoranda submitted by 18 nations dealing with the question of League reform. The Council decided to place the memoranda, as well as the secretarial report before the full Assembly of the League. The Secretary-General reported on his trip to Rome and his conferences with Signor Mussolini and the Italian Foreign Minister. The next meeting will be held this afternoon. — Trans-Ocean Service.

M. LEON BLUM'S SPEECH

Adverse Comment From Italy

"SUNDAY HERALD" SPECIAL

Rome, Yesterday. The speech of the Premier, M. Leon Blum, broadcast on Thursday, is treated lightly by the Italian press, which describes it as a "hash-up of outworn ideology."

In the opinion of the Piccolo the conclusion to be drawn from the French Premier's historical and philosophical allusions is that France will firmly refuse to give up the Soviet Pact.

The Popolo di Roma states that while M. Blum made a step forward towards the Franco-German rapprochement with the declaration regarding his willingness to negotiate, he again retired behind all the walls of the "old fortress: indivisible peace." — Trans-Ocean Service.

COMING SONATA RECITALS

Booking: Unusually Heavy

Proof of the interest being taken in the three Sonata Recitals to be given at the Helena May Institute on Friday next, September 25, and on October 9 and 23, is to be found in the aspect of the booking, which is already unusually heavy.

The first programme will be devoted to those Old Masters whose works stand as the traditional foundation for the music of succeeding generations. Handel's Sonata No. 4 in D Major and Beethoven's Sonata in D Major (Op. 12, No. 1) for Violin and Piano will be played by Prue Lewis and Maurice Barton, and Bach's Unaccompanied Sonata No. 6, played by Prue Lewis, will supply an interesting and unusual element.

Edgar Warner, tenor, accompanied by Lindsay A. Lafford, will sing songs by Handel and Bach. The Box Play is at the Helena May, where tickets, single or for the cycle, may be obtained. Details will be found in our advertisement columns.

MORALE OF REBELS BADLY SHAKEN

EXPLOSION OF ALCAZAR SHATTERING BLOW VITAL FACTOR IN DEFENCE

Madrid, Yesterday.

The civil population of Toledo encamped in a bitter wind a mile and a half away and watched the explosion of Alcazar, which was mined by the Government troops and totally destroyed. The besieged insurgents gallantly awaited their fate, occasionally making desperate sallies in the hope of preventing the miners' consummating their plot.

The blowing-up of Alcazar was the culmination to one of the biggest struggles of the civil war. From the point of view of the insurgents' morale its fall is considered to be a worse blow than would be the fall of Oviedo and Huesca, while from the military viewpoint its importance lies in the fact that it dominates the road to Madrid and also the Alicante-Valencia rail-line. Whoever controls Toledo controls the main outlet to the sea — a vital factor in the defence of Madrid, most of the food supplies of which come by this route.

Gibraltar: H.M.S. Queen Elizabeth, which arrived here from Malaga on Thursday intending to go to Malta, sailed at daybreak yesterday with the destroyer Anthony of Malaga, where it is understood street fighting is proceeding between the various groups, and buildings are being set on fire.

The destroyer Worcester is already at Malaga, from where it is reported that Senor Vega, the Civil Governor, has urgently appealed to the Madrid Government for immediate reinforcements, following the refusal of 600 Militiamen to continue to fight against the insurgents.

Malaga Communists, in letters to Communist refugees at Gibraltar, declare that they would rather smash the whole of Malaga than surrender and be shot by the insurgents for the shooting of naval officers. — Reuter.

HUMANE WARFARE

Paris: The League of Red Cross Societies has announced that the Spanish Government forces and the insurgents have undertaken to respect the Geneva Convention and the Red Cross, and have agreed to the reciprocal evacuation of women and children. — Reuter's Bulletin Service.

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION

Paris: Large stores of dynamite which had been placed in the tunnels dug into Alcazar, the famous Moorish fortress in Toledo, were set off yesterday by the Marxist troops, according to a message from Madrid, the greater part of the structure being demolished in the terrific explosion. The inhabitants of Toledo had evacuated the town during the night and were encamped two kilometers away. The fate of the Nationalist officers and cadets who held out in Alcazar for weeks is not known, but the troops which are rushing to their rescue hope to reach Toledo in the course of the next few days.

FOREIGNERS WARNED

Paris: All foreigners in Bilbao and Santander have been warned to leave the towns by a radio announcement from the Provisional Government at Burgos, according to a report from that city, because these towns will be bombed during the next few days. The Nationalists have advanced to the immediate vicinity of Bilbao having defeated a column of Government troops which attempted to intercept their progress.

The next objects of the Nationalist operations will be the small towns of Zarautz and Zumaya, about 36 km. from San Sebastian. The Nationalist body in Oviedo, cut off from the main body, is still holding out against the Marxists.

The town of Trubia, which contains important ammunition factories, was occupied by the Nationalists after a heavy fight, a considerable amount of war material falling into their hands.

PREMIER'S NARROW ESCAPE

Lisbon: Great activity on part of Insurgent flotillas is reported from Coruna, bombs having been dropped on Ciudad Real. Troop and provision trains en route to the front have been derailed and the Madrid-South railway station, as well as other strategic places, have been bombed. It is reported that during one of these bombardments, a bomb dropped on the roof of the War Ministry and, falling through the building, exploded not five metres away from the office of the Premier, Senor Largo Caballero. — Trans-Ocean Service.

Drifting

NEVER before has Europe presented the peculiar aspect of having completely lost its bearings, and of drifting towards a cataclysm which everyone would like to avoid if he knew what course to get. As leadership fails events move ever more quickly. No sooner has one problem been met with a plan than a wider problem presents itself to which the plan would be inapplicable. Freedom means the right to think for oneself, and the necessary consequence of thinking for oneself is that there are conflicting parties and conflicting loyalties, between which those in authority have to walk warily and not only take but give. What has happened is that the extremist temperament has pervaded the nations, and "all or nothing" is the slogan. That demand, which means the extirpation of those who disagree, makes for the moulding of a "mass humanity" which would be unattainable in fact, and utterly unenterprising if it were attainable. Life itself means individuality, diversity, the clash of ideals and theories, and it is quite certain that no one party or theory of life is big enough to contain life.

This Spanish slaughter is just as much wrapped up with the general world-condition as all the other conflicts, but it may not be obvious at first sight why Spain, which has for generations been drifting in a backwater politically and industrially, should suddenly be seen to be the battleground of forces in which every other country is concerned. At the end of the war the natural plan was to substitute a more regularised control of all nations by a League of all Nations, which would make war unnecessary. It was certainly in advance of the times, but it might have been expected that in seventeen years the popular mind would have caught up to that vision. The principle is simple enough. It was that whatever any people did within their own borders was their own affair, but it was every nation's affair to prevent armed invasion of a neighbour's territory. One cannot blame the ordinary citizen for not being willing to undertake the necessary protection of distant peoples when one notices that even in the British Cabinet there is no agreement to shoulder any such task. Speaking apparently with authority, Sir John Simon said the other day in a speech which had been quoted all over Europe: "We are not prepared to lose one British battleship even in a successful battle for Abyssinia." The significant words are the last two. To the British elector the question was not of fighting for Abyssinia, the largest remaining slave-holding State, but for a new principle of regulating international policy. One may now take it for granted that there is no method of restraining an "aggressor State" except by war—represented by the battleship—and that even England is unwilling to apply "military sanctions." Europe has drawn the conclusion that in the attempt to restrain Italy the British leadership was hopelessly incompetent, and that for any major purpose the League is useless as a peace-preserving organisation.

But the new feature in this Spanish business is that the other part of the plan is equally useless under the new post-war conditions. It is no longer possible simply to sit down and leave the nations to manage their domestic affairs. Government is a business of adjusting the claims of the individual to the claims of the State, and it becomes either impossible or inefficient for wellbeing if either claim is exalted into a tyranny. That is exactly what the opposing parties in the democratic States are trying to do. They would have us vest a dictatorship in the proletariat—which in practice means whoever can get control of the ignorant multitude—or in a corporate State, which means an equal tyranny of the employing class. What is still more disturbing is that they would have all the world adopt their own special form of tyranny, whichever it may be. Wherever there are Communists springing up to oppose them, and we are expected to watch the world being divided into the domain of these two equally absurd extremisms.

Time has worked in favour of Trotsky through the modern inventions that bring contact so intimately between all who can listen to wireless or read pamphlets, and the victory of either party in Spain would affect France very closely, and the balance of power in Europe and the Mediterranean. Spain is in any event weakened for a long time to come, but ideas know no boundaries, and whoever may win the lovers of personal freedom everywhere will have to look to their defences.

MR. D. C. WILSON

IT is with sincere regret that I must record the pending departure for Home, for good, of Mr. David C. Wilson, who for the past six years has been Managing Director of Newspaper Enterprise Limited, and who has been in the Colony for the past 11 years without a leaving! As straight a man as one could wish to deal with and one whose word was his bond, Mr. Wilson has made a host of friends in the Colony, but I very much doubt whether anyone will miss him more than his own staff, to whom he has always been more of a friend than anything else.

Joining the Company in July, 1925, as manager of the printing department, he took control of the whole business on the death of my father, the late Mr. G. W. C. Burnett, in January, 1930. Since that date he has shown rare determination and zeal in the face of keen competition, and it is due largely to his sound judgment and initiative that Newspaper Enterprise stands on such firm ground as it does to-day.

There is no doubt that his resignation from Newspaper Enterprise Limited will be someone else's gain. Although seldom able to secure much time away from the office, he has always shown keen interest in golf and Rugby football, though he did not actually take an active part in the latter sport. He has been president, vice-president and captain of the Kowloon Golf Club, winning that Club's championship twice and being runner-up on three occasions—he is the present holder. Entered by the Kowloon Golf Club in the Colony championship in 1932, he won the Visitors' Cup despite very keen opposition.

Educated at George Heriot's School, Edinburgh, he is one of the original members of the Hong Kong Heriot Club, which was founded in 1927. Mr. Wilson, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, whose charm has won her many staunch friends, and their three children, will be leaving for England next Friday by the s.s. Scharnhorst, and I will take this opportunity, on behalf of the staff, of wishing the five of them all the best of luck.

TODAY'S QUOTATION

Labour to keep alive in your breast that little spark of celestial fire—conscience.—GEORGE WASHINGTON.

THE PASSING HOUR

BY A.N.M.

NOTHING can get rid of the air to our figure of £500 for the interest out of our Budgets when we had a two shilling dollar. At that time—when of course no cut was necessary—a 10 per cent. cut would have meant a dollar income of 4,500. At the rate of 1/3d. which is to take effect on January 1 next, the same sterling salary would have produced $8,000, and with a 10 per cent. cut would still produce $7,200. Even with 20 per cent. cut it would produce $6,400, which is more by $1400 than at the higher rate even without any cut at all. At the rate fixed for the current year, 1/8d., the basic salary would be $6,000, and a 10 per cent. cut would still leave the advantage with the recipient to the extent of $400. The reduction of the rate by three farthings at the end of the current year is itself a gift to our typical officer of $333. For officers drawing higher salaries the boon of a reduction in the rate of exchange is of course greater in proportion to the excess of the salary over $500. These reflections are not prompted by any view as to whether any particular salary scale is too high or too low. They are intended to indicate the impossibility of making any scale that will be fair and also intelligible to the public so long as we have so unreliable a coin as the Hong Kong dollar to deal with.

THE SALARY CUT

IN the meantime any mathematician who wants a little exercise in the Relativity theory can get all he wants by trying to calculate the results of the salary cut and the fixing of the salary exchange rate at a conventional figure as they affect the Civil Service and the public respectively.

All the revenue, except some interest on balances held in London, has to be paid by the public in dollars. The trade of the Colony recorded in dollars shows an improvement on the previous year, even though the sterling valuation shows a decrease or a standstill. One may take it for granted therefore, even with the extra motor tax, and allowing for the natural human habit of grousing at all payments to Governments, the public is at least as well able to carry the burden as in the previous year, and it has to be remembered that if the Civil Servants gets less, he will spend less, and the rest of the community will get a correspondingly smaller income. The Government is the loser by a few dollars in purchases from overseas, particularly from England, in any payments it has to make such as the new airmail and on payments of salaries of sterling-paid officers on leave and former officers now on pension. But the pensioner himself does not gain, for with a four shilling and three-penny Income Tax, the recipient of a pension of £500 will be lucky if he gets £400 for himself. The officer on leave gets off lightly with only the cut as a deduction; he escapes the Income Tax and the artificial rate of conversion. The free passage more than outbalances the amount of the cut, for that has to be paid in sterling by the Government.

THE COST OF LIVING

AN objection to these calculations will of course at once occur with the thought that if the salary varies, so does the cost of living. That a lower dollar means in the end that everybody has to pay some more dollars to live in the style he is accustomed to is true in the abstract, but in application it is only another illustration of the inconsistencies of the incidence of rises and falls. Nobody would argue that there has been a rise in the cost of living corresponding to the difference between $6,000 and $8,000. To domestic servants, taxi-drivers, coolies, and most shopkeepers, a dollar is simply a dollar and that is the end of it. Rents have actually been falling, because so many houses and flats are vacant, and Government quarters are not affected. Liquor and tobacco cost more because the duty has been raised, and in any case they are luxuries under the control of the individual. Tailors charge rather more, because they import the cloth—but they frequently charge more without that excuse. Logic, and such abstractions as "economic levels" have simply nothing to do with the complex effects of these currency changes. They would indicate that as the dollar was at two shillings when the sterling salaries were fixed, abstract justice would be satisfied if an exchange rate were maintained. But in any case a moderate rise of exchange would make more material difference than the cut.

Navigating Ships By Radio

By Captain J. G. BISSET R.N.R.

SHIPS frequently cross the ocean without getting a glimpse of the sun, moon, or stars by which to calculate their latitude or longitude.

In these circumstances they navigate solely by chart and compass, employing the method known as "dead reckoning." This involves estimating the ship's speed and making allowances for varying winds and currents, over a distance of 3,000 miles, and is liable at times to considerable error.

In pre-radio days, "making the land" after such a voyage was a matter of grave uncertainty—especially in thick weather—and much valuable time was lost groping about taking soundings and listening for fog-signals in an endeavour to establish the ship's position.

Value Of Wireless

Now wireless has revolutionised this branch of navigation

Spectators at the Y.M.C.A.'s first hockey practice match of the season last Saturday included Mr. S. A. Fowler, Miss Kathleen Winch, Mr. V. Bond, Mr. R. Durmer and Mr. N. Whitley. ("Herald" photo).

away by means of a "direction finder" instrument on the bridge; it enables him to determine his exact position and to proceed on his voyage without delay.

The "D.F." instrument, as we call it, consists of a small loop aerial fitted to the top of a metal pole about 12ft. high. This aerial can be rotated as required by a horizontal hand-wheel placed over the top of a gyro-compass card.

The navigator listens with ear-phones for the signal of the particular radio beacon he wishes to locate. On hearing it, he gently moves the hand-wheel and tunes the signal out to zero, the pointer attached to the wheel indicating the exact direction or bearing of the beacon. The signals are high-pitched and distinctive.

Position Given

If bearings of two or three widely spaced beacons, such as Mizen Head (South Ireland), Round Island (Scillies), and Ushant (France) are taken about the same time, and the lines of bearing laid on the chart, their point of intersection gives the position of the ship.

Numerous radio beacons exist to-day on prominent headlands round the coasts of all civilised countries. In thick weather they send forth their special signals continuously, and in clear weather twice every hour.

For the benefit of ships not possessing "D.F." instruments, many coastal wireless stations are so fitted, and will, on request, give any ship her own bearing from the station.

Work In Groups

In most cases these stations work in groups of three or four, and a ship requesting a bearing gets replies simultaneously from them all, enabling her to "fix" her position with accuracy.

British stations make a charge of 5s. for this service. American and Canadian stations are free.

The fact that twelve Canadian "D.F." stations provided 41,625 such bearings during 1931-32 indicates the tremendous value of radio to all classes of shipping. Bearings taken from automatic radio beacons by navigators must exceed this number many times over.

About TOWN

Four interested spectators at the friendly soccer match on the Kowloon Football Club ground last Saturday, when the home Club's first eleven beat the Fusiliers by the odd goal in five. (From left to right) Mr. A. W. Bliss, Secretary of the Hong Kong Football Association, Mr. R. Everest, Mr. C. M. Hall and Mr. R. Hall, Chairman of the K.F.C. ("Herald" photo).

THE best news of the week was the definite arrangement for Kai Tak to be used as the Far Eastern terminus for Pan American Airways and China Airways. The impatience with which the slow negotiations were watched was not prompted by any doubt that something was going on, or that the importance of keeping Hong Kong "on the map" was being entirely lost sight of. When questions of trade routes or passenger traffic are under consideration there is no getting away from geography, and from the geographical point of view there is no getting away from Hong Kong. There was complete appreciation of the fact that in the early stages it was opportune to put forward claims for reciprocity, and also that every month was improving the serviceability of big passenger planes. But there was a danger that, if only for bargaining purposes, some other drome than Kai Tak might be selected, and that it might be a difficult thing to alter the plan in face of the vested interests that grow up so quickly. We accordingly advocated that the drome should be run on the same principles as the the harbour—free access and equality of conditions for all. Quite possibly air transport may rob our liners of some of their custom, but that is inevitable, and it is also possible that an equal number of passengers may be forthcoming who make their journeys partly by air and partly by sea. We have plenty of accommodation for these birds of passage; in fact all our arrangements make Hong Kong a thoroughly suitable "Clapham Junction of the air."

The Aeroplane In War

THERE is nothing new to be learned from the internecine conflict going on in Spain so long as we study merely the land operations. The lesson that of all forms of fighting the most wasteful is a civil war is as old as the hills. But there is something extraordinarily depressing in reading the names of the famous towns the siege of which is recorded in Napier's classical "Peninsular War," and noting that after more than a century everything is happening in just the same way, with the exception that the range of the guns is longer. Aerially Spain was behind the times, and would not have had any bombers to speak of had not the insurgents got a supply at the last moment from Italy and Germany, and apparently from the newer Spains of South America. Such experience as may be derived from the tactics by foreign staffs has therefore to be qualified by remembering that what can be done against an enemy that is ill-supplied cannot always be repeated against a thoroughly equipped Power. But as far as this war has gone it has strengthened the arguments of the tacticians who have published their conclusions. In a word, there is no defence against the air bomb. The only reply is retaliation. One side can do as much damage as the other, but neither can prevent the damage.

Airmindedness

CHINA Airways is partly owned by American capital, and there may be a query whether British capital is not being frozen out. To that there are several answers, if we look far enough into the future. The first is that it is natural that China should develop airmindedness rather slowly, considering what a revolutionary development it is. The best method is to do nothing to prevent its growth, and to await the day when it has grown to be a matter of course instead of a novelty. If there is an element of suspicion of British "infiltration," as there is the biggest operation of that sort that has yet been attempted, but it is one of those cases where what can be risked with badly equipped or badly trained opposition could not safely be risked against an equally competent foe. The insurgents that might have at least molested the operation had been foolishly scattered up and down the coast to do useless damage to ports that had been occupied by the insurgents. Our own fleet was actually within range or near at hand and formed the opinion that it would not have been difficult to stop the transfer. Our people by the way, seem to think that as the insurgents missed the chance of early success by surprise, the chances are now in favour of the Government. The conditions are very unlike any that we should be likely to have to deal with.

Married men, do you know what would happen to "them" if you died to-morrow?

You are your family's world, in you they have implicit trust; have you justified their faith? Should you cease to be, will your family have money every month to meet the expenses of even ordinary living? Will there be sufficient to pay for your kiddies' education?

For a small premium you can give those you love complete protection against the necessity of penniless living, in an uncaring world.

MOTION PICTURE PRODUCTION with SIEMENS and HALSKE CINE CAMERA

is a far easier and more fascinating hobby than ordinary photography. The ingenious way of inserting film has eliminated the use of complicated adjustments, such as sprockets for threading and looping the films.

Just a touch, and the film is in position and, whilst the motor is running at a normal speed of 16 pictures per second, the operator can obtain both a fast speed of 64 pictures per second for slow motion pictures, or a half-speed for 8 pictures per second, without interrupting the exposure. This alteration does not produce any under-or over-exposure, for the Self-acting Shutter-Control automatically snaps into position.

COMING MASS MARRIAGE

Applications Of Five Couples Rejected

COMMITTEE MEETING HELD

Five couples of the 28 who have registered for the forthcoming Mass Marriage had their applications rejected by the Mass Marriage Examination Committee, who held a meeting at the St. Francis Hotel yesterday afternoon.

In applying for registration, a 19-year-old student gave his age as 21 years and stated that he was a teacher, while two couples failed to obtain their parents' permission. The other two were asked to withdraw their applications, as they gave inadequate reasons for not wanting their real names published.

An application from a couple in Japan was also discussed at the meeting, and it was decided to wait until the arrival of the persons before approving of it.

Changes In Dress

After the previous Mass Marriage, which took place on February 15 last, the vernacular press commented on the attire of the brides and suggested improvements. This was also under discussion yesterday. The committee members unanimously agreed that the brides should wear shoes with lower heels than last time, while the bridegrooms will wear the same style of costume as at the previous ceremony.

The following members of the committee attended the meeting yesterday:—Messrs. Fu Sal-si (Chairman), Lee King-hung, Wong Kwok-fong, Ho Keang-po and Cheung Lu-kau.

Radio fans will be interested to learn that Miss Nee Sa Long, the charming daughter of the famous magician, Long Tack San, who is at present on a visit to her married sister, Mrs. Ernest To, will broadcast from Z.B.W. on Friday night, and in an interview with the Sunday Herald, Miss Long said that she will be delighted to render any special numbers local listeners in might desire of her.

Miss Long has been a member of her father's troupe ever since her childhood days and is an accomplished violinist, in addition to being what is popularly known as a "Torch Blues" singer. She has broadcast in almost every country she has visited. Miss Long sings in Spanish, French, Filipino, Malay and English.

While in Hollywood Miss Long was given a screen test, as a result of which she was offered a two-year contract by M.G.M. She had to turn down this offer as she was under contract with her father's company then. For the same reason she had to reject an offer for a character part in "The Good Earth," but she is now retiring from the stage so that she will have more time to devote to film work in the future.

FORMER SALESMAN SENTENCED

Theft By False Pretences

Leung Kam Pang, aged 27, unemployed, who was charged with the theft by false pretences of 160 drums of linseed oil, valued at $1,700, on divers dates between February 9, 1934, and June 10, 1934, appeared on remand yesterday morning before Mr. G. F. Ballou, at the central Magistracy, and was sentenced to six months' hard labour.

Mr. J. Hunter, accountant of Messrs. Dodwell and Company, Ltd., was the complainant and Detective-Sergeant Byron was in charge of the case.

Detective-Sergeant Byron said that the defendant was formerly employed as a salesman by the firm. His business was to sell and not to receive any money for the firm. He had obtained the goods through a forged order. He then sent someone to take delivery of the oil. Defendant absconded on June 10, 1934. He had no means of making amends or restitution.

PEAK CHURCH WEDDING

Thompson—Haggitt

WELL-KNOWN POLICE OFFICER MARRIED

One of the most popular couples in the Colony, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Maughan, will today celebrate the 25th anniversary of their marriage, and we take this opportunity of offering them our congratulations. Mr. Maughan is a Past President of the Hong Kong Lawn Bowls Association, while Mrs. Maughan has associated herself with St. Dunstan's Society and is Hon. Secretary of the Busy Bee.

A very pretty wedding took place at the Peak Church yesterday afternoon, the Rev. H. W. Balnes officiating, when Miss Norah Graham Haggitt, daughter of the Very Rev. Dean Haggitt of Nelson, New Zealand, and the late Mrs. P. B. Haggitt, became the bride of Mr. W. P. Thompson, A.S.P., son of the Rev. and Mrs. Thompson, of Seasalter Vicarage, Whitstable, Kent.

The bride, who looked charming in a blue morocain frock patterned with white daisies, was attended by Mrs. Geoffrey Wilson as Matron of Honour. Mrs. Wilson wore a brown ensemble and carried a bouquet of yellow and orange gladioli, while the bride's bouquet was of white jasmine and white gilder roses.

The bride was given away by the Hon. Mr. T. H. King, Inspector-General of Police, while Mr. A. R. S. Major performed the duties of best man.

A reception was afterwards held at No. 157, The Peak, when the health of the happy couple was drunk by a large circle of friends.

ARMAMENTS IN BRITAIN

LABOUR PARTY'S ATTITUDE

Government Policy To Be Supported?

London, Yesterday.

The executive of the Labour Party discussed for several hours yesterday the attitude to be adopted towards the Government's armament policy. It is learned that although no definite decision was taken the majority of those present definitely favoured rearmament. A resolution embodying that viewpoint will be submitted to another meeting of the executive at Edinburgh on October 1, with a view to its being presented to the conference as a statement of policy.

It is gathered that yesterday's proceedings were characterized by very frank speaking.

Dr. Hugh Dalton made a vigorous speech in favour of supporting the Government's armaments policy and was strongly backed by Mr. J. R. Clynes and other influential members of the executive. It is understood that Mr. Herbert Morrison criticised the proposal but did not definitely oppose it.

LOCAL SHARE MARKET

Upward Tendency Continues

SHARES DIFFICULT TO OBTAIN

In an interview with the Sunday Herald, Mr. C. A. I. Rickett, Secretary of the Stock Exchange, said:—

The upward tendency of our local market continues, with buyers predominating and shares difficult to obtain. The approaching settlement appears to cause no decline in prices as all shares offering are readily absorbed. China Lights are an outstanding feature, showing a rise from $13.90 to $15.75 during the week. Wharves were done at $113.00 and Provident (Old) at $23.00. Hotel rose to $6.10, Lands to $40.50, and Star Ferries to $95.00. Electrics were steady at $65.00 after payment of an Interim Dividend of $1.00. Telephones (Old) changed hands at $31.00 and the New shares at $11.25. Cements were in demand at $12.30 and business was put through at that price.

MANILA GOLD SHARES

In spite of the wet season in Manila, gold production during August was the highest on record, and there is no reason why one should not anticipate further improvement during the month of September. The "gold fever" in Manila remains unabated, and seems to have spread to all classes and both sexes.

In Hong Kong, however, the beginning of the week showed an upward tendency in the Phillipine gold shares, and the undertone remained firm until the end of the week, when decline in all price levels was recorded, no doubt owing to profit taking. The market recovered on Friday afternoon, and at the close a very firm undertone was evident. With a highly speculative market, fluctuations of this nature can only be expected.

NILE DISASTER

Forty-Five Feared Drowned

Cairo, Yesterday.

The latest reports of the Nile disaster give 45 feared to have been drowned. A party of 300 were aboard three launches being towed up the Nile. The last launch collided with a barge.—Reuters.

An earlier message stated that the defendant was formerly employed as a salesman by the firm. His business was to sell and not to receive any money for the firm. He had obtained the goods through a forged order. He then sent someone to take delivery of the oil. Defendant absconded on June 10, 1934. He had no means of making amends or restitution.

CAPTAIN SUEN CAPTURED

MISUNDERSTANDING ON BOTH SIDES

ARMY TRANSPORTATION TRAIN DERAILLED NEAR HUNAN

(From A Special Correspondent)

Canton, Yesterday.

News reached here last night that there was clash between Japanese and Chinese troops at Fengtai at 5 p.m. yesterday. Captain Suen Hsiang-tiang of the 29th Army was captured by the Japanese troops, and the two bodies of men shelled each other for some time. It is learned that this was due to some misunderstanding on both sides, and this misunderstanding was cleared up at midnight. The troops of both sides therupon retreated.

Yesterday the army transportation northbound train of the Canton-Hankow Railway was derailed at Liang Tien Station, south of Hunan, and it is learned that there were a large number of casualties.

It is reported that an unexploded bomb was found in a Japanese shop at Swatow at 10 p.m. on Thursday. The Japanese Consul and the Swatow Municipal authorities are now investigating the matter. As Swatow is an important seaport in South China, Divisional Commander Li Hon-wan, formerly of the Ironsides, is garrisoning the place, while the garrison of Eastern Kwangtung is commanded by the Divisional Commander, General Tseng Yau-yen.

The Generalissimo, seeing that the provinces of Kwangsi is rich in mineral resources, has instructed the Minister of Railways, Mr. Chang Ka-nagau, to draft a plan to extend the Canton-Shamshui Railway into Nanning, passing through Wu-chow. As soon as this line is finished it will be connected to the Canton-Hankow line, so that the mineral products of Kwangsi can be transported to the different provinces of the country, and the excess can be exported to Europe and America.

The Generalissimo has instructed Mr. Chen Shu-men, Commissioner of Business of the Ministry of Railways, to investigate the collision between a train and a motorbus on the Canton-Hankow Railway line last week. Madame Chiang Kai-shek returned to Kuling by air yesterday.

Although there was a substantial rise in the speculation in China cotton and yarn at the beginning of the week, the prices during the past few days showed a tendency to be lower.

RACING RESUMES AT THE VALLEY NEXT SATURDAY

Keen Competition Anticipated In All Main Events

(By "The Judge")

After an interval of two months, during which period the ponies have benefited from their rest and freedom from strenuous training, racing under the auspices of the Hong Kong Jockey Club will be resumed at the Valley on Saturday next. The grass track has been carefully nursed throughout the summer, and its present splendid condition will materially assist in fast times being recorded and, given favourable weather, there is every reason to expect a much larger gathering of racing enthusiasts during the coming half of the season.

This meeting will be featured by the reappearance in the saddle of Mr. L. G. Frost, the champion jockey, and Mr. Y. T. Fung, to whom a hearty welcome will be extended. After an enforced absence of several months due to an operation for appendicitis, from which I am glad to say, he has now fully recovered. Mr. Frost's return is particularly gratifying.

Chief interest on Saturday will be devoted to the races confined to the "A" and "B" Class China and Australian ponies, and it may be of interest to readers to have some first-hand information regarding the ponies participating in the respective events.

Difficult Problem

The first race of the day, the Big Wave Handicap, for "A" Class China ponies, will provide punters with a difficult problem in picking the winner, as the race will be over six furlongs, and there are several speedy entries capable of winning. Although entered, I doubt whether King's Warden, which is extremely fit at the moment, will accept—the distance is too short, and its slowness in starting will consequently prove a severe handicap. Cossack's Beauty will also find the distance unsuitable, and its owners will probably reserve it for a later meeting. The same remarks apply to Diana Bay, so that, out of the remaining entries, we have Gladiator, Honey-moon Eve, Oak Bay, Royal Scot and Soldier of Britain.

Mr. Leo Frost, champion jockey, will be back in the saddle next Saturday.

It will be recalled that Soldier of Britain was a source of keen disappointment in the early part of the season, but recovered beautifully to win a great race later. It will again be piloted by Mr. H. C. Pitt, and I think it has a good chance of winning this race. Royal Scot must be considered next, and, if ridden by Mr. Norman Deitz, it should offer a stern challenge to Mr. Li Shiu-pang's candidate.

Too Long For Oak Bay?

Oak Bay will have the benefit of the champion jockey, Mr. L. G. Frost, but I am inclined to think that it will find the extra furlong a difficult task to surmount. Should the Eve stable decide to send out Honeymoon Eve, the Derby winner, and if it is guided by Mr. W. H. S. Davis, I would recommend a bet each way, as the same

Mr. Y. T. Fung will be riding again during the second half.

connection unexpectedly won a race over the same distance during the first half.

Whatever may be the outcome of this race, there is no doubt that it will be fought out at a fast rate, with the result in doubt right up to the finishing post.

Derby Day Stands Out

In the Corroboree Handicap, over five furlongs, for "A" Class Australian ponies, I doubt whether there is any pony amongst the entries capable of extending Derby Day. I believe that Mr. S. C. Liang will again be entrusted with the task of riding this pony, in which event I would nominate this combination to win, in spite of the fact that Strathtroy will also be in the race. Strathtroy is more suited to a longer distance.

Nothing much is known about Holiday Eve, but if it has fully recovered from the effects of its hard race in the Sydney Maldens at the Annual Meeting, it will have a chance. Vixen Tor has also entered, but unless it can get off to a good start, which I

POLICE TRAINING SCHOOL

METHODS OF DEALING WITH RECRUITS
INSPECTOR-GENERAL INTERVIEWED

In an interview with the Sunday Herald, the Hon. Mr. T. H. King denied most emphatically that it was a part of a Police recruit's training that he should have to bring in a certain number of cases each week. Mr. King added, however, that if after an officer had been out on beat duty for about six months and still did not have a single case to his credit, then it was obvious that there was some slackening somewhere.

So far as gas training was concerned, Mr. King said that it was not included in the curriculum of the Police Training School, adding that he thought it would be much more useful to give instruction to members of the Force who had already passed the recruit stage. There were only a very limited number of gas-masks available now, but there were more on order from Home, and classes were going on all the time to instruct the members of the Police Force and also the Fire Brigade in the handling and use of the gas-masks.

Asked why the gas-masks were not ordered locally, Mr. King said he was not aware that gas-masks were made here, adding that each newly manufactured mask was subjected to the severest tests. Further, the conditions governing the storage of the masks were also very rigid.

POLICE TRAINING
Returning to the question of Police recruits, those from Home and those signed on either from India or locally, it was stated that

ARAB HOSTILITIES
FRESH ATTACKS MARK JEWISH NEW YEAR

Jerusalem, Yesterday.—The Jewish New Year was marked by a rerudescence of Arab hostilities. Attacks were made on Thursday night in at least nine Jewish centres. Four separate onslaughts were made on an orange-growing colony, where the watchmen defending it had exhausted their ammunition. The police, however, arrived just in time.

Incendiaries gutted a Jewish flour-mill near Samakh, the damage being estimated at £5,000. The Iraq pipe-line was again damaged near Afuleh London. It is understood that a meeting of Ministers at No. 10 Downing Street, yesterday morning received reports from the High Commissioner in Palestine. It is learned that the Government intend to delay putting martial law into operation until they see how the situation develops. It is hoped that the influence of the more moderate Arabs will have a steady effect, but there is no doubt that, failing a very definite change in the situation, martial law will be proclaimed.—Reuters' Bulletin Service.

FOOD "WASHED" WITH PURE AIR Constantly Circulating
in the Modern Air Conditioned Refrigerator

Certain stored foods pass off impurities, unpleasant in odor, which are quickly absorbed by other foods. Thus food, to remain impurity-free and to prevent decay, must be kept in air that is constantly purified as well as chilled. Cold alone is not enough!

The new OLYMPIC ICE Refrigerator, utilizing SIX-SIDED REFRIGERATION, keeps vitalized fresh air constantly circulating around your food. It "picks up" odors and impurities, carries them to the melting ice film, where they are absorbed and eliminated through the drain pipe. Food odors cannot interchange!

Too, the new OLYMPIC Air Conditioned Refrigerator maintains the correct balance of moisture in the air, preventing foods from drying out. Foods retain their natural flavors, juices and vitamins.

Our Ice Service Man will gladly demonstrate the new OLYMPIC Refrigerator.

PERSONALIA

Mrs. Weymouth and Mr. Lewis are here seen watching a friendly game at the Polo Club. ("Herald" photo).

BIRTHDAY honours this week go to two members of the lawn bowls fraternity, Mr. R. F. da Luz, the Crayengover Cricket Club skip, and Mr. Adam Marshall, of the Kowloon Ducks, have their anniversaries to-day.

The many friends of Mr. Leo Frost will regret to learn that he will be leaving the Colony, on transfer, soon after Christmas. Mrs. Frost states that "everything is still up in the air yet" and that she does not know where his transfer will take him.

Two well-known local residents, Mr. D. L. Prophet, of Messrs. Linstead and Davis, and Mr. A. W. da Roza, the bullion broker, celebrated their birthdays last Tuesday.

Mr. C. Mycock, who was formerly Headmaster of the Yau-tai English School, is due to return to the Colony towards the end of the month. He had been away in England, on leave, for the past nine months.

Mr. Kenneth Keen, of the Colonial Secretariat, celebrated his birthday last Friday, and on the following day Mr. S. Jex, the former Interport cricketer, and Dr. G. McN Hargraves had their anniversaries.

Mr. H. J. Armstrong, of the legal firm of Messrs. Deacons, is due to go away on leave in the near future. It is understood, however, that he will not leave the Colony until Mr. M. H. Turner, another member of the firm, returns to the Colony from his holiday in England.

Mr. Stan Hill, our celebrated cartoonist, accompanied by Mrs. Hill, left for a short holiday in Japan last Friday.

The many friends in the Colony of Mr. W. H. Edmonds, formerly of the Public Works Department here, will be glad to hear that he is keeping very fit and well. He recently went on a motor tour of England, in the course of which he visited Mrs. Wattie, wife of Mr. J. Wattie of the Colonial Secretariat, at Scarborough, and Miss Muriel Gelling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gelling, at Barrow-in-Furness.

Mr. H. C. Macnamara, the well-known local barrister who is spending a holiday in England, is having a very nice time according to news received in the Colony by some of his friends. It is not yet known when he will return, though it has been rumoured that we will have him back here with us towards the end of the year.

Mr. J. K. R. MacGregor, of the firm of Messrs. Caldbeck and MacGregor, has gone to Manila for a holiday. He has been away for about two weeks now and we learn that he will be back in the Colony by the end of the month.

One of the most popular members of the Education Department, Mr. W. Lucas Handasyde, who had been on Home leave for the past year or so, will be returning to the Colony towards the end of the year. He should, ordinarily, have returned here before now, but he secured an extension of his leave for a post-graduate course.

Mr. Kan Tong-po, the manager of the Bank of East Asia, has had a particularly busy time during the last few weeks, visiting the different branches of his Bank. He was away from the Colony for a few days during last week, but has since returned here.

Mrs. C. G. Herdman, Mrs. G. P. Redondo and Miss Luz Bernal are three visitors from Manila who are thoroughly enjoying their vacation in Hong Kong. They are staying at the Gloucester Hotel and make a trip out to Repulse Bay almost every evening. The party will return to the Philippines in the course of the next few days.

Mrs. R. T. O. Lammert, who had been for some time with Messrs. Brewer's Bookshop, left for Singapore during the week. She is going to join her husband who has taken up a business appointment in Singapore. A small farewell party was held in Ruton Building last Tuesday.

Dr. D. J. Valentine, the Assistant Director of Medical and Sanitary Services, together with Mrs. Valentine, has taken a trip "down south." They have been away for about a couple of weeks and will not be back till early next month.

Mr. H. F. Westlake jnr., who was acting clerk to the Chief Justice during the absence on leave of Mr. Hirat, has now returned to his own post in another Department of the Court.

Mr. J. C. Williams, assistant general manager of the Texas Company (China) Ltd., has gone away to the coastal ports on a business trip. He left last week, and it is learned that he will be back in town in a few days' time.

Mr. and Mrs. George Duncan, who left the Colony on their honeymoon by the s.s. Scharnhorst, will be back in the Colony again very shortly.

They have been holidaying in England and, from all accounts, appear to have had an excellent time.

They have been holidaying in England and, from all accounts, appear to have had an excellent time.

A large number of local residents are booked to leave for Home by the s.s. Scharnhorst, which sails on the 26th. inst.

Amongst them are Mr. and Mrs. "Lollie" Goldman, Mrs. D. W. Perse, wife of Capt. D. W. Perse, R.A., the Interport cricketer, and Mr. and Mrs. David C. Wilson.

Mr. H. R. Butters, the Postmaster-General, together with Mrs. Butters, will be leaving the Colony towards the end of December for a year's holiday at Home. Mr. Butters states, however, that they have not yet decided whether they will spend their holiday in London or in Scotland.

"Thinking" about buying a radio? You will do more than "think" when you see the amazing Zenith 1937 models at the INTERNATIONAL RADIO SALES AND SERVICE, 27 Hankow Road, Kowloon. There is new beauty, new performance, new features never before built into any radio.

And you can have an AC-DC set with built-in antenna, a set which you can use on any current, on board ship, on trains etc.

To be quite explicit: no matter where you are you need never miss the pleasures of a Zenith radio. Go and see them: you will find a revelation!

Mrs. Currie, Mr. Wilsden and Mrs. Wilsden, pictured at the Polo Club, were very amused at the wire-haired terrier who regarded our photographer with the utmost suspicion. ("Herald" photo).

A charming camera study of Mrs. Alma Lee, who has just arrived in the Colony from Panama. (King's Studio).

Many local residents spent last week-end at Cheung Chau and every one of them appears to have had a really good time. Miss Gladys Allen, who has only just returned to the Colony from a holiday in England and on the Continent, was there, together with her brother and Veronica. They stayed at the popular "Sunnyside," which was full of visitors from Hong Kong.

Mr. J. C. Williams, assistant general manager of the Texas Company (China) Ltd., has gone away to the coastal ports on a business trip. He left last week, and it is learned that he will be back in town in a few days' time.

Mrs. H. L. Lockhart's residence at Kowloon Tong was the scene of a happy little party on September 2, after which the above photograph was taken. The other ladies in the picture are Mrs. H. E. Budden, Mrs. P. D. Crawley, Mrs. A. T. Sabey, Mrs. A. D. Spoor, and Mrs. Kenneth Andrew.

CAPT. J. Lossius, the Grand Old Man of Cheung Chau, celebrated his birthday last Thursday, when nearly all the residents on the Island called on him to offer their congratulations. Mr. H. J. Pearce had his anniversary on the same day, while Mr. A. C. Rosario of the National City Bank of New York had a party on the day before to mark his birthday.

Mr. William Staley, of the National City Bank of New York will, it is understood, be leaving the Colony on transfer in the very near future. He will probably be going to the Peiping branch of the Bank.

Mr. Fred J. Brown of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company celebrated his birthday anniversary last Thursday and was heartily congratulated by his colleagues and many friends.

Mr. J. K. R. MacGregor, of the firm of Messrs. Caldbeck and MacGregor, has gone to Manila for a holiday. He has been away for about two weeks now and we learn that he will be back in the Colony by the end of the month.

CAPT. L. J. Walch, R.A.S.C., who is one of the most popular Army sportsmen in the Colony, is due to go home during the coming trooping season. Mrs. and Miss Walch will be proceeding to England with him, and it is possible that he may spend a short holiday in England before being posted to another station.

The many friends in the Colony of Miss Ethel Mudd, who was formerly a teacher in the Garrison here, will be glad to learn that there is a distinct possibility of her returning to the Colony in the very near future. In a letter to a friend recently she stated that she might be embarking from England early in September.

Dr. G. V. Griffiths, medical officer in charge of the Kowloon Hospital, had to be away from his work last week due to an injury to his eye. He has, however, since recovered sufficiently to resume his duties.

Now Culbertson brings out his complete Contract Bridge—The Gold Book of Bidding and Play—you have been waiting for it; you will find it, of course, at BREWER'S BOOKSHOP, the one bookshop in town sure to have the newest and the best. Their novel for the week is Hugh Walpole's latest: "A Prayer for my Son." Here is Mr. Walpole's customary mingling of beauty and terror. And a reminder: BREWER'S have "Inside Europe," that sensational story of the great personalities in Europe by John Gunther.

PAUL RENNETT'S are unwrapping and hanging up some of the most stunning of all Autumn fashions yet to arrive in Hong Kong. I stopped into their "blue room" this week—it really was that: all the dresses on show were the loveliest royal blue. Blue, by the way, is the colour of the moment. But there were others too . . . tunic dresses . . . new, deep colours and styles and sizes for Miss and Matron. PAUL RENNETT'S seem to have an "in" all their own to get these grand things so soon. No wonder, that it is the shop for discriminating women!

Worms are no joke . . . Especially when they thrive in your children . . . Even the most ardent fisherman couldn't be enthusiastic about it. So, when you notice symptoms such as pains and uneasiness in the bowels and stomach; indigestion, nausea, feverishness, grinding of the teeth, itching in the nose—it is time to get WATSON'S WORM BONBONS, which not only eliminate worms but also exercise a tonic effect. They are made in an attractive sweet form and children love them. They only cost 8 cents each.

I wish I knew which horse to put my money on next week . . . but I can have a sure bet on Lane, CRAWFORD'S dresses are always first in the dress parade. You can't miss them. Small wonder . . . your pick for these races are floral silks with neat tunic coats in one colour to fit over them—ever so light and smart. Or if it's as hot as ever there are the coolest of floral gorgettes. I shall be sitting on the grand-stand and counting them . . . one—two—three . . . all the knock-outs from Lane, CRAWFORD'S.

High and mighty . . . is the way the newest hats are getting . . . But not MAIZEE'S, our American Shop, in spite of their wonderful Autumn shipment. You'll find every "best seller" in their selection. There are sky-pointing feathered crested crowns, crowns that shoot out in front, some twisting up the side or sliding from a high back down to nothing over the nose. As to frocks, there are in every eccentric form—or the very simplest, all having MAIZEE'S customary smartness. New winter coats are in too. And, by the way, you can't put a new hat on an old head — so get yourself some Helena Rubinstein beauty preparations.

"Y" SWIMMING GALA

Six Championships At Stake

DINNER-DANCE AND PRIZE DISTRIBUTION

The European Y.M.C.A. Swimming Section will conclude their summer swimming season next Wednesday evening with their last gala, in which six championship events will be featured. Owing to lack of time, the 220 Yards free-style championship will probably be swum off next Tuesday evening in the "Y" pool, commencing at 6 p.m. sharp. Entries for this event should be sent to the Hon. Secretary of the Swimming Section, Mr. R. Goldman, not later than 8 p.m. to-morrow evening.

The Men's 100 Yards free-style, next Wednesday evening, is likely to produce a very close race between H. Lange, the holder, and F. J. Anslow, who has made great strides in his swimming this season. R. Goldman and H. Millington will vie for third place, with the odds favouring the latter.

Very Good Race

The Junior 100 Yards free-style will also be a very good race and the result will probably rest between Koown, Arnoid and Booker, with E. Fowler and J. Lephard as two good outside chances.

Frank Read will make his first appearance in the 50 Yards breast-stroke championship, in which he will be opposed to Anslow, the probable winner, Lephard and R. Goldman.

The 50 Yards back-stroke championship is also likely to produce a good race as the rest of the juniors will meet the seniors and, although there are two sections, some of the former section are the equal of their seniors. The race, however, should revolve round Lange, Anslow, Millington and Booker.

Disappointing Feature

The Diving championship will probably be won by E. Fowler, with Goldman and Mills as runners-up. The one disappointing feature of the programme to date is the lack of entries for the Ladies' 50 Yards free-style championship.

An outstanding event at the gala will be the 200 Yards free-style relay between the representative Army team, which came fourth in the Colony championships, and the Y.M.C.A. "A" team, who were beaten into fifth place.

The gala, which commences at 6.30 p.m. in the evening, will be followed by a dinner-dance and prize distribution.

The following are the probable entries:

Men's 100 Yards free-style championship:

H. Millington, H. G. Lange, F. J. Anslow and R. Goldman.

Junior 100 Yards free-style Championship:

A. Koown, N. Booker, E. Fowler, G. Arnold and J. Lephard.

Men's 50 Yards breast-stroke championship:

F. J. Anslow, R. Goldman, F. V. Read and J. Lephard.

Men's 50 Yards back-stroke championship:

H. G. Lange, H. Millington, F. J. Anslow, N. Booker and F. V. Read.

Men's Diving Championship:

J. Mills, E. Fowler, R. Goldman, A. Koown and H. Millington.

Novices' 50 Yards free-style handicap:

J. Sanders and C. Fuxman.

Men's 50 Yards Aggregate Handicap:

(Post entries).

200 Yards Relay ("Y" v. Army):

Y.M.C.A.: H. G. Lange, A. Koown, R. Goldman and F. J. Anslow.

Army: Lieut. A. J. Lewis, Lieut. R. A. Barron, Rm. Hamilton and Cpl. McCurdy.

Ladies' 50 Yards free-style championship:

(No entries received to date).

Ladies' 25 Yards Novices' scratch:

(Post entries).

Ladies' 50 Yards Aggregate handicap:

(Post entries).

ARGONAUTAS BEAT "Y" F. NOLASCO OUTSTANDING PLAYER ON VIEW

A very fast hockey encounter was witnessed on the Y.M.C.A. ground at King's Park yesterday when the Argonautas beat Y.M.C.A. eleven by 4 goals to 1 after leading by two clear goals at the interval.

The Portuguese team were much too fast for their opponents, whose spoiling tactics, however, compensated for their lack of fitness in other departments of the game.

ARMY CHILDREN'S AQUATIC SPORTS

HEATS AT V.R.C. TO-MORROW

COMPLETE ENTRY LIST

The annual Army Children's swimming sports will commence to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 p.m. with heats in the Victoria Recreation Club swimming pool, and the finale will be held on Friday, September 25, commencing at 3 p.m., admission on the latter day being by invitation.

The sports are being held under the patronage of His Excellency Major-General A. W. Bartholomew, C.B., C.M.G., C.B.E., D.S.O., and Mrs. Bartholomew will distribute the prizes at the conclusion of the gala.

Competition is very keen between the Hong Kong and Kowloon Schools for the various trophies, particularly the Championship Flag, presented for annual competition some time ago by Major-General J. W. Sandilands, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O.

An Innovation

An innovation this year is the introduction of an Inter-Schools Challenge Cup, open to all Schools in the Colony, each School entering, to furnish one representative who shall be under the age of 14 years (British reckoning) on September 25.

The Challenge Cup itself was presented by Mrs. A. W. Bartholomew, and will be held by the winning School for one year. The event, the first of its kind in recent years, should prove very popular.

The following is the complete programme:-

CLUB WIN KOWLOON CHINESE DEFEATED PENALTY DECIDES ISSUE

FLEMING IMPRESSES

The brilliant goal-keeping of Wong Cheong for the Chinese in the second half and the poor shooting of the Club forwards in the first period of the game prevented the Hong Kong Football Club from beating the Kowloon Chinese Football Club, who were making their debut appearance, by a much larger margin in their friendly football game on the Club ground yesterday. They won by an only goal, scored through a penalty!

The opposition offered by the Chinese was not equal to that of the East Lancs, last week, and this may have resulted in the Club not giving the same brilliant display they gave last Saturday.

Fowler was a notable absentee from the Club team, and he was greatly missed. His place was filled by Hill, in the first half, and later by Haynes, but both of these players were not of much assistance to the other forwards.

Halves Improve

Wilson, at inside-left, and Forrow, at centre-half, were outstanding for the Club, while E. Strange and J. Skinner gave greatly improved displays as wing halves. The former, who was very fast in his tackling and whose feeding was much better than last week, had Tang Kwong-sum in the latter stages of the soccer season, and made an admirable leader.

His distribution was sound, while his terrific speed and stick-work made him one of the most dangerous of the visiting forwards. A. Angelo, on the Portuguese left-wing, was equally dangerous, although he was well held by the "Y" defence.

Unimpressive

The Chinese, as a team, did not impress at all. Apart from Wong Cheong, in goal, and La' Kwok-chui, at centre-half, the other players did not display good form. The forwards were good in their passing, at times, but were very timid and poor in their shooting, so that with but three exceptions Rodger, in goal, was never seriously troubled.

Tam Kwong-sum and Yeung Kan-po, formerly live wires of the Chinese Athletic team, were completely subdued by E. Strange, while Au Ping-ming could never get the better of Forrow in the centre.

The Club scored their only goal from a penalty converted by Elliot.

Kowloon Chinese:—Wong Cheong; Wong Wing-hon and Kwok Pin-cheung; Chau Man-chi, Lai Kwok-chui and Lai Fai; Tang Kwong-sum.

Argonautas Score First

The Argonautas scored early in the game through Nolasco, and A. S. Xavier added the second soon after, the interval arriving with the Portuguese in the lead. The second half saw more of the play in the Portuguese half and Well-spring, at inside-right, scored the "Y"s only goal midway through.

The Argonautas, however, went further ahead with two goals through B. Gosano and F. Nolasco, the final whistle giving them a 4 goals to 1 victory.

The following is the complete programme:-

50 yards Championship:—(Boys under 11 years), 50 yards Championship:—(Girls under 11 years), 100

HUSSAIN BROTHERS HAVE UNBEATEN RECORD

"C" DIVISION TENNIS LEAGUE STATISTICS KOWLOON TONG SHOW GREAT PROMISE K.C.C. "A" COLLAPSE BADLY

(By The Sports Editor)

THE "C" Division of the Lawn Tennis League, which was brought to a conclusion last Thursday, proved to be very much more exciting than was expected after Recreio had beaten South China in their needle match, the Kowloon Indians carrying off the trophy as the result of a deserved win over Recreio in the deciding encounter.

Though Recreio would probably beat the K.I.T.C. seven times out of 10 the latter's win was a just reward for consistently good displays throughout the season. In the Hussain brothers they had a pair who could be depended on for three sets in every match—they, however, very nearly lost their unbeaten record when L. Silva and J. Xavier (Recreio) actually led them 5-2; a late rally and over-confidence on the part of their opponents, however, saved the day and they drew at 6-all.

The Chinese R.C., the holders, took no interest in this year's series from the point of view of securing another trophy and spent their time giving newcomers match experience and it is more than likely that this policy will bear fruit next year.

The most disappointing team in this division was undoubtedly K.C.C. "A," who, after starting the season with four successive wins, dropped 13 points in the course of their next seven matches to finish up on level terms with their "B" team!

Kowloon Tong Garden City Association, making their debut in the League, made a big impression—they held both the champions and runners-up to the odd set. H. and A. Chan are undoubtedly a coming pair—one defeat in 30 sets is a very commendable performance.

The twelve Clubs competing produced an aggregate partnership total of 154, made up as follows: K.I.T.C. 5; Army 5; Recreio 8; K.C.C. "B" 10; K.C.C. "A" 12; C.C.C. 13; K.T.G.B.A. 14; C.S.C.C. 14; C.R.C. 16; University 16; I.R.C. 18; and S.C.A.A. 23.

At the weekly dance of the Health and Strength League, held at the Hotel Cecil last night, Mrs. Stockford and Mr. Flood were the winners of the spot waltz, while Mrs. Hole and Mr. Lindsay won the Statue Waltz competition.

"Two of the most wonderfully happy days of our lives" was the description given by His Excellency the Governor to Press representatives at Kowloon Railway Station on his return from his visit to Canton with Lady Caldecott yesterday morning.

Sir Andrew and Lady Caldecott had been in Canton since Thursday on an informal visit with the object of calling upon Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and making the acquaintance of the local authorities.

The two days were spent in most interesting sight-seeing, entertainment and conversations, in the course of which the most friendly relationships were established and the foundations laid for many such pleasant interchanges in the future.

What impressed not only the visitors but the whole city was the wonderful organisation of all the arrangements, everything being done to make Sir Andrew and Lady Caldecott feel that they were the very special guests of Canton.

Everywhere they went there were Guards of Honour and their cars were preceded by an escort of the motorised section of the City Police, which ensured them clear passage through the busy thoroughfares. Extra police were on duty on all lines of the route.

ARRIVAL AT CANTON

The train on Thursday morning ran into a specially decorated railway station, a band was discoursing music at the point at which the Governor's coach drew up, and another band and Guard of Honour were outside the station.

The visitors were welcomed by H. M. Consul-General, Mr. Herbert Phillips, and his staff, and General Chien Ta-chun included the Chairman of the Provincial Government, General Huang Mu-sung, and General Yu Han-mow, Pacification Commissioner, Colonel Li Fong (deputising for the Mayor), Dr. Wang Chung-hui, General Chien Ta-chun, Mr. T. L. Sung, members of the Consulate staff and other officials. Madam Chiang was unable to attend as she had left by air for Kuling that morning.

A Guard of Honour of Indian police was drawn up at the Pier on the arrival of the Generalissimo.

At the Consulate-General a naval Guard from H.M.S. Tarantula was mounted.

After a most successful informal visit Sir Andrew and Lady Caldecott returned to Hong Kong by the 8.15 a.m. train yesterday.

On arriving in Hong Kong yesterday morning H.E. the Governor and Lady Caldecott were met by Press representatives and stayed for a few moments to inspect a railway coach which has been converted into an observation car, charmingly furnished. Mr. R. D. Walker, manager of the Kowloon Section, and Mr. J. Smith, mechanical engineer, showed the visitors the details of the coach.

HIS EXCELLENCY'S MESSAGE
To the Press representatives Sir Andrew Caldecott gave the following message in response to their enquiries as to his impressions of his visit to Canton.

"My wife and I have returned from Canton with the memories of two of the most wonderfully happy days in our lives. It was our extreme good fortune that on our first introduction to China we were able to pay our respects personally to the Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-shek, and our only regret was that the latter's indisposition necessitated her leaving for Kuling yesterday. We are looking forward to hearing that the change of climate has resulted in her complete recuperation.

The return journey to Shunmen, which was made by launch, afforded the visitors another and a different view of Canton.

During the morning of Friday a tour of interesting places in the city and suburbs was made. At Chungshan University the Acting Dean and many professors extended hospitality. The site and buildings were greatly admired by the Governor.

A visit was also made to Yellow Flower Hill to view the Memorial in honour of the famous "72 Heroes," and here Sir Andrew Caldecott laid a beautiful wreath to their memory.

Coming back to the city, an inspection was made in turn of the Museum, at the Five-Storeyed Pagoda, and the stone Memorial to Dr. Sun Yat-sen on the hill overlooking Canton and of the beauti-

Mrs. Adeline Speichinger, 36-year-old farm woman of Mendon, Mo., gave birth to sextuplets on August 9 last. Dr. W. H. Lucas, attending physician, reported the delivery of a healthy 10-pound daughter (shown with the mother), but the five babies were all dead.

length, following which the young Chinese performer drew away into a yard's lead as a result of good turns on the walls, but Marques, not to be outdone, had something in reserve and at the end of the third length saw him level again with Wong.

Thrilling Finish
The last length was most thrilling and, despite putting every ounce of strength into his pulls, Wong lu-man was unable to shake off the challenge of Marques, who brought his reserve strength into play in the last five or six yards to win his first Colony title by a touch from Lewis.

Diving Title

The Colony Diving championship again went to a Victoria Recreation Club entrant in Lionel Roza-Pereira, who proved his versatility by winning the title for the first time with a margin of just under 15 points from Fus. Owens, who surprised his critics by taking second place. Wong Woon-kai, of the Chinese Bathing Club, was third, while Cpl. Gregson, of the East Lancs, and the Army champion, was fourth.

which we were received and the excellence of the arrangements made for us. I was particularly struck by the smartness of the Guards of Honour and the efficiency of the police arrangements. We were very sad that owing to the Mayor's indisposition with an attack of fever we were unable to make the same personal contact with him as we so much enjoyed making with Their Excellencies the Chairman of the Provincial Government and the Pacification Commissioner. The Mayor's Secretary was indefatigable in his kind services to us and in showing us around. We have come away deeply impressed by the progress of urban development and by those marvels of modern Chinese architecture, the Sun Yat-sen University and the Memorial Hall.

"We had a wonderful send-off at the station and I was happy to think that it was a case of 'au revoir' and not 'adieu' for we both look forward to visiting Canton another day and to meeting our kind hosts again, not only there but, we very much hope, as our guests in Hong Kong."

A great crowd at the Station gave the Governor and Lady Caldecott an enthusiastic "welcome back" as they left by launch for Hong Kong.

"HUMILIATION DAY" PASSES OFF QUIETLY IN CHINA

TWO DAYS' MARTIAL LAW LIFTED

(From A Special Correspondent)

Canton, Yesterday.

The 5th anniversary of Humiliation Day, the date on which China lost Manchuria, passed off peacefully yesterday, and the two days' martial law, ordered to be declared all through the country by the Generalissimo, was lifted at one o'clock this morning. It will be remembered that at 10 p.m. on September 18, 1931, the Japanese army in Manchuria suddenly opened fire on a Chinese camp, and later occupied Mukden and Nanchang. China then lost the three North-eastern provinces of Manchuria, and the Province of Yichuan next in order, by non-resistance.

Observing this, the Generalissimo is busy in uniting the different provinces of China, and he has now succeeded in doing so after settling the Nanking-Kwangsi dispute. This unexpected unification of China has impressed the world, and the saying that "China is an imperfect organisation and cannot call herself a State in the strict sense" will probably not be heard again.

The Generalissimo's next task is to deal with the Sino-Japanese negotiations. His real attitude towards them is unknown. It is stated in well-informed circles that the Generalissimo has ordered that all the documents of his Wu-chang and Nanchang field headquarters are to be removed to Whampoa, and he is now very busy having them endorsed day and night. Judging from this, the Generalissimo will go back to Nanking very soon. Mr. Shigeru Kawago, the Japanese Ambassador to China, has now exchanged views with Mr. Chang Chun, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, and he is waiting for the Generalissimo to discuss the Chengtu and Pakhoi incidents and the readjustment of all Sino-Japanese problems.

The first meeting of the National Defence Committee will be called immediately after his return to Nanking. "War cannot be avoided in the Far East," declared General Li Chung-ien the other day, and General Li is requesting the Generalissimo to make Kwangsi the military training province. Last week General Chen Sheng was instructed to hold a military conference at Hankow on behalf of the Generalissimo, so as to strengthen the national defence of the Yangtze Valley. While in the South, Divisional Commander Chen Chang of the 4th Route Army has been ordered to dispatch the whole division to garrison the Hainan Island, which is rich in natural resources. It is reported that four Japanese warships are at Haikou, the main port of the island. Besides, conscription has been announced by the Nanking Central Government. All citizens of China with certain age-limits must enlist in the army for a number of years.

Whether China will still continue to bow to aggression or not will probably be decided after her People's Congress on November 2 this year. The whole country is now busy in selecting the delegates for this congress, which is a direct legacy of the referendum system. The congress will have to vote for the Constitution of China, drafted by the Legislative Yuan, and elect the first President of the Republic of China under this Constitution.

Generalissimo's Position

AFTER NATIONAL PEOPLE'S CONGRESS

The Chinese are now very doubtful about what will be the position of the Generalissimo after the congress. It should be understood that the head of the present Nanking Central Government is the Chairman of the Nationalist Government. He is only a nominal head. Public business is transacted at his hands and professedly gramme, His Honour the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor, Chairman of the Club, congratulated the champions and sympathised with the losers, whom he said would probably be successful in the future as a result of the experience gained. He also thanked Mr. F. W. T. Ross, Vice-Chairman of the Club, and the Committee for the smooth-running of the Championship programme. He then asked Lady MacGregor to present the prizes, following which Mr. Ross handed Lady MacGregor a beautiful bouquet of flowers.

A large crowd then indulged in dancing until the early hours of the morning.

All China Is In Cat Street With Flowing Liquid Life

Impressionistic Study Of Local Chinese Shops

(By PHYLLIS JUBY)

CAT Street and curios . . . and Yet a delight comes, sharply: a soft child Buddha sits, intent, on mind's eye the prosaic picture of a high iron chair. Cross-legged, a bargain. A skull-capped Chinaman bows courteously and giving in; the sole of one foot an open flower, another little possession cheaply won. A smile of satisfaction, high up on a plank, moving short laugh, and a quick step back to the rickshaw . . . Cat Street? And then a family looking down, inquisitive through the heavy iron bars. Three geese patterned on the stone steps, grey, gentle feathers; pulsating. A mother grasps her child's head between steps—a slow approach. Close, hot, and glaring; only the shade of a tall walls glued with blackness, stirs. Only a huge white character above shakes its bleached bones in a gust of wind.

Fifty Cents A Month

Chanting from a Buddhist school. Fifty cents a month—all that rhythm for 50 cents a month. A child brushes by, runs up the steps lightly in a red filled skirt. And then the road; two babies are wheeled by in a squeaking, dirty rattan push-cart, a pugnacious Chinese parent behind. Still the chanting; a clash of cymbals. Kan Kung Fat: Temple of the Duke Kan Buddha, a scholar who became a God, God of Integrity. Rows and rows of brown Buddhas, remnantled. A red drum and Buddhist chant, low, monotonous chant of the Buddhist.

Sandalwood music.

The amah kneels and clouds of incense waver from her hands into the air, rest on the bright pink ones, fall into the little tea bowls. The monks, copper-clad, finger the rosary beads, round symbols of nothingness. They fan themselves slowly and chant, clashing the bright metal discs that reflect the gleam of the copper.

The corner of Cat Street: hideous pink rattles for greeting, moth balls, tattered books, iron and rust, a block of ice in the filth of the road, a gramophone with tremendous horn. Two flat salted fish on a tray and a snake neatly rolled and tied with bamboo; behind, the seller, spectated, squatting open-mouthed. Men in happy profusion, placid. And above a sordid wall, leprosy, but with an ornament: the pet kua, eight trigrams, representing the Yang and the Yin, male and female principles, and the forces of nature.

A pure geometrical shape and built on the points of the compass, it is symbolic. Its shape embodies the Chinese idea of the universe, its portions are forces of nature, and having the aspect of the eight winds. To the common people, merely a sign of good luck; but still a thing respected. A charm and an amulet, but they must feel it is built on something precise, well-defined, a soothing conception.

At A Stall

We stop at a stall and gaze upon lotus roots and opium pipes; each with its end shaped as an ancient weapon: arrow, spear, or the cutter in the shape of an axe, symbol of power. Or one may finger a rosary of minute buddhas carved from plumstones, or of fantastic buddhist skulls. Or run one's palm over a long-handled wine-cup in white unpolished jade; a wine-cup raised at some ancient banquet.

The writing set from Peking, used by the Emperor Kien Lung, himself a poet, on which he placed his "Four Precious Things": brushes, inkstone, inkstick and paper. Its long boxes for the paper, its six round boxes, shaped as scrolls, for the pens, the holder in the form of a drum, its box for ink in the shape of a Chinese piano. Inksticks that are old, flowery and refined. On one side a landscape like a little Chinese scroll unrolled; a five-storyed pagoda in an acacia grove, circular waves that carry little boats . . . On the other side a gold-charactered poem—perhaps by Kien Lung himself.

The men gracious and polite, bowing: we are friends. Outside the children shouting, the hawkers shuffling and crying, the steaming bodies close upon one. All the hot, fetid air once more; the peanuts piled neatly, the caged bird content, springing in its tiny enclosed space. All China is here in Cat Street; its cruelty and its refinement, its filth and its fastidiousness, its well-defined patterns and its flowing, liquid life. All its contradictions.

THE ROMANTIC CANARY

And The Lady's Tactful Withdrawal

A romantically-minded wild canary gave up her life of freedom for a mate and a home in a cage.

Mrs. G. Blingham, of Thatcher, Arizona, put her pet canary's cage in the sun and soon afterwards heard a noise of tapping at the window. She saw wild canary pecking the window pane.

Opening both the window and the door of the cage, Mrs. Blingham tactfully withdrew. When she returned both birds were in the cage.

ancient pendants, shaped of jade and carved. A tablet of jade, over one foot in length, that hung from the Emperor's girdle. A flat blue ring of jade, symbol of heaven, the shape of heaven and the 12 months; a yellow tube, symbol of earth; a red "chang," the vermilion bird, of the south; a white "hu" of tiger design, the west; a semicircular black "huang" plain or ornamented, the tortoise of the north; a green "kuei" of rectangular shape, the green (or blue) dragon of the east.

All those things used each day by the young nobleman of old. On the left of his girdle he hangs a knife and whetstone, a small punch of bone or ivory (to undo little knots), a metallic mirror (to obtain fire from the sun's rays).

On the right he ties as archer's thimble and a brace for archery, a tube (containing writing instruments), a case containing a knife, a big bunch (to undo the big knots), a wooden drill. We picture the young aristocrat, "like the drizzling branch of the Houen lan," wearing on his belt an ivory spike. But "though he wears an ivory spike . . . his behaviour is nonchalant and free; his girdle ends hang down." Or, " . . . like the leaf of the Houen lan, on his belt hangs an archer's thimble. Though he wears an archer's thimble, he has not made me feel his ability; nonchalant in his behaviour, too free in his manner, his girdle ends hang softly."

Other Items

There are long steel needles for cleaning the opium pipe; each with its end shaped as an ancient weapon: arrow, spear, or the cutter in the shape of an axe, symbol of power. Or one may finger a rosary of minute buddhas carved from plumstones, or of fantastic buddhist skulls. Or run one's palm over a long-handled wine-cup in white unpolished jade; a wine-cup raised at some ancient banquet.

Ancient Buick Passes State Test

The oldest car to pass the Colorado State inspection test thus far is a 1908 Buick owned by C.C. Dill of Denver. When Dill took his car in it was discovered that the lights did not work, although everything else was in perfect working order.

Dill protested that lights were not necessary, because he never drove at night. The matter was taken up with Joseph Marsh, supervisor of the State Motor Courtesy Patrol, who insisted that the car had to have lights, in case Dill got caught out after dark. The lights were fixed up and the test was passed.

Dill does not know how far the car has travelled because he threw the speedometer away 15 years ago, when it wore out at 250,000 miles.

"UNCLIMBABLE" HILL

Conquered By Ford V-8 Cars

Run largely on War Office testing grounds, by special permission, and consisting of a selection of extremely stiff climbs one after another, the Lawrence Cup event organised by the North-West London Motor Club is invariably an interesting short trial.

Fifty-six competitors started this year, and the piece de resistance was the "Red Roads" section at the end, which was regarded as unclimbable, and could be omitted at the individual competitor's option.

The result was largely a triumph for the Ford V-8; for the Lawrence Cup was won by S.H. Allard driving a Ford V-8 Special, while owners of this car obtained two of the only four cups awarded for climbing the "unclimbable" Red Roads.

Playing An Unnatural Contract

BY ELY CULBERTSON

A GENTLEMAN ALWAYS PAYS

In a recent individual tournament held at Crockford's Club in New York City, a hand was dealt on which only one of the teams arrived at the best contract. Since the game was being scored on the match point basis, many of the players made unnatural bids in an effort to score a "Howell Top." However, all of those players with one exception, instead of getting the top score that they were trying to attain, wound up very close to the bottom.

It is easily seen that seven hearts is a laydown on the hand, and the fulfillment of this contract depends only on a trump break. However, in a greedy effort to secure the honour score, a great many East players failed completely to support any heart bid made by West and, as a result, reached either a game or Slam contract in spades or a Small Slam contract in hearts. Only one team bid the Grand Slam in hearts.

Naturally, those players who played the hand at a spade contract received a diamond opening, and the Declarer immediately had to face a very serious problem: At a contract of four spades in Rubber Bridge the proper procedure with a diamond Opening is to discard one heart and two clubs on the first three rounds of diamonds, thus insuring the contract of four spades, even against a 4-2 trump division.

However, at a six spades contract such tactics obviously could not be pursued. One East player playing at six spades received a diamond Opening, ruffed the first trick and, in desperation, then proceeded to play for a 3-3 spade break, despite the fact that the North player had bid diamonds up to five-odd, indicating an unbalanced distribution. Obviously, when the trumps did not break, poor East could only cash two heart tricks and three club tricks before South trumped in with the thirteenth trump and then proceeded to allow North to run several diamond tricks.

Believe it or not, however, one East player succeeded in finding the way to make six spades against a diamond Opening. How this particular East player guessed the winning line of play is more than I know—probably the opponents showed him their hands. At any rate, the play went as follows: A diamond was opened, and East trumped in with the spade 10. East immediately discarded the thought of playing for a 3-3 spade break, and proceeded to cash the Ace and King of hearts in Dummy. He then played the Ace and King of trumps in his own hand, leaving himself with the long Jack in his own hand and the lone Queen in Dummy. He now proceeded to run his club suit. On the fourth club South had two possible lines of defence open to him—neither of which could bring about the defeat of the contract. Actually, South ruffed in on the fourth club, and Dummy overtrumped with the spade Queen. The Declarer now led a heart from Dummy, playing the Queen from his own hand, and South trumped. However, Declarer still had a trump left, and was able to claim the rest of the tricks.

Had South failed to trump in on the fourth round of clubs, the Declarer would merely have discarded a heart from Dummy and then played another club. The same situation would have again presented itself to the South player, who must realize that failure to ruff would give the Declarer another discard from Dummy and thus enable him to make his two remaining trumps separately, for his eleventh and twelfth tricks. An amazing line of play, indeed . . . I suspect a peek!

DERBY LOSE AT HOME AND ARSENAL FAIL

ANTI-HEROIN WORK SCOPE FOR OFFICIAL ACTION SPECIAL WARDS AT HOSPITALS REQUIRED

(By A Special Correspondent)

In view of the alarmingly large number of heroin cases reported almost daily, the article on anti-heroin work which appeared in last Sunday's issue of the Sunday Herald, giving the views of Mr. Lo Wing Kit, chairman of the Directors of the Tung Wah Hospital, attracted no little attention, especially amongst the section of the Chinese community who are particularly interested in this branch of work.

In an effort to obtain their views on the matter, I approached several Chinese gentlemen who are directly concerned with the running of the Tung Wah Eastern Hospital, where an anti-opium ward has been established. It was while I was thus occupied that I learned that one of the main movers of the scheme is Mr. Lau King-tsing, one of the Directors of the Tung Wah Hospital.

Mr. Lau was very emphatic in his views that anti-heroin work can be carried on in the Tung Wah and its affiliated hospitals and he said that, provided sanction was forthcoming from the right quarters, he felt sure that ways and means could be found to establish such wards.

It may not be generally known that Mr. Lau has already done much of the spade work in connection with the scheme and although he has received little or no encouragement in the matter, it is his intention, I understand, to leave no stone unturned until the goal is gained. Purely from a humanitarian point of view, Mr. Lau explained, the heroin addicts in the Colony should be given every opportunity to redeem themselves, and Mr. Lau and a great many of his co-workers feel that if only a little sympathy is shown, much good can be achieved.

There is a Government subsidised anti-opium ward in the Tung Wah Hospital. Heroin is an even more destroying drug than opium, and if the opium addicts are being helped, why not those afflicted by the heroin curse?

ACCOMMODATION

So far as the question of accommodation is concerned, it is understood that room can be found in the Tung Wah Hospital for the establishment of an anti-heroin ward. The room on the third floor of the old block now used by the dressers in the Hospital, for instance, might be converted into such a ward and the dressers might have their quarters in that building formerly used as a refugee shelter, which is at present vacant. The dressers themselves, I have been informed, have long been complaining that as their quarters are in the hospital proper, immediately next to the wards as it were, those of duty find it very difficult to have any rest, what with the audible sufferings of the patients and all the other noises.

So far as the Tung Wah Eastern Hospital is concerned, I understand that there is a ward on the second floor of this establishment, known as the Kiu On "C" ward, that is absolutely vacant at the moment, where 12 patients may be accommodated. It would seem, therefore, that the argument that there is no space must fall to the ground, and if permission is obtained, the work may be begun here almost at once.

FINANCE QUESTION

Dealing with the question of finance, Mr. Lau informed me that the annual expenditure would not amount to more than $3,000, including an initial expenditure of $500 for the purchase of beds and other furniture necessary for the anti-heroin ward.

Mr. Lau said that it is quite true that when an addict finds that he has no money to buy the drug,

PRIVATE TREATMENT

There are a number of private practitioners now, said Mr. Lau, who are treating, privately, heroin addicts with a fair measure of success, and it was the success thus achieved that led him to hope that even greater things could be accomplished by the establishment of anti-heroin wards. If the powers-that-be found it inadvisable to open such wards in all the hospitals at the same time, they might do so gradually, starting with just one ward in the Tung Wah Hospital; and it, at the expiration of six months or a year, the experiment should prove a success, similar wards might be established in the other institutions.

Mr. Lau's views on the matter are shared by a good many people who have expressed their willingness to support the scheme, provided official support is forthcoming. It is a service to society which should not be turned down unless the reasons for doing so are unquestionable, but as far as can be gathered, the reasons are more in favour, rather than against, the establishment of such clinics.

HELP FOR REFUGEES

London: A letter appears in the morning papers, signed by the Archbishops of Canterbury and York, the Archbishop of Westminster and others, appealing for funds for British refugees from Spain, many of whom have reached England entirely destitute.

About 400 are being maintained from charitable funds and a considerable number still in Gibraltar or Marseilles are also dependent on charity.

Harrowing examples are cited of men and women who have spent most of their lives in Spain, having business or professional connections, and who have had to leave behind everything, down to the smallest personal effects. [See Page 5.]

men, since it fears that a revolt may break out at any moment.

Insurgents Continue To Advance

HEAVY LOSSES SUFFERED BY GOVERNMENT

Badajoz: The advance of the Nationalist troops on the Talavera front continues without interruption. The vanguard of the insurgents is now only 15 kilometres from Toledo.

The losses suffered by the Government forces in the recent fighting on the Talavera front are stated to have been extremely heavy. It is asserted that the Government troops lost several thousand dead in the recent action. The Nationalists captured no fewer than 101 guns from the retreating Reds.

Numerous young boys, many of them not older than 15 years of age, as well as women are fighting in the ranks of the Red Militia. About 200 women have been taken prisoners by the insurgents in recent fighting.

In several instances Fascists, posing as supporters of the Madrid Government, risked their lives in attempts to further the Nationalist cause. Thus a detachment of the Nationalist Legionaries was enabled to storm a machine-gun nest whose position was prematurely revealed by a Fascist machine-gunner who fought in the ranks of the Red Militia. The machine-gunner in question began to fire long before effective fire was possible and took careful aim not to hit any of the advancing insurgents. The Nationalists were thus enabled to capture the machine-gun nest without losing a single man.

The Fascist machine-gunner, who was killed by a hand-grenade in the action, was identified by his Fascist membership card found in the pocket of his uniform. The heroic machine-gunner was accorded a funeral with full military honours by the Nationalists, and Colonel Yague personally attended the funeral. [See Page 5.]

Garden City, Yesterday. Playing in the Final of the U.S. Amateur Golf Championship, Jack McLean was one down to J. Fischer (U.S.) at the ninth, but was 2 up at the 18th. Conditions had greatly improved, but a gusty breeze proved a handicap to the players. McLean was the steadiest of the two. The following were the scores:
